Stores Swept To Sea

CORBONEAR, Nfld. (CP) — Whole waterfronts were wiped clean of wharves and buildings and in some spots stores were washed to sea in Newfoundland's worst storm in history.

Striking Sunday and raging most of Monday and Tuesday, the lashing, smashing seas sent water thundering 200 feet up steep cliffs and against the wharves and fishing stages.

Everywhere along the coast there were scenes of almost unbelieveable damage.

Some spots were still isolated Tuesday and damage reports are likely to keep trickling into St. John's for days to come.

A Canadian Press reporter who toured the fishing villages and outports of Conception Bay Tuesday saw the winter coal supply of Charles Marshall lapped by still-angry seas and the building that housed it floating in countless pieces.

A mile down the road, Thomas Peckham's coal and shed disappeared the same way. Both men felt their homes move under the pressure of pounding waves.

Separating the two men was a 1,000-foot stretch of highway, loaded with rocks, sand, tin cans and timber.

A 40-foot stretch of the paved highway was torn into huge hunks and heaved like pebbles across nearby railway tracks.

In the centre of town, a warehouse at the rear of a super market was torn to bits by the seas which slapped against it most of the day. Only the roof and one side remain intact.

Fishing wharves, dories, equipment and buildings were smashed by the mountainous waves that swept hundreds of feet up rocky cliffs to bring to many fishermen the worst disaster in memory.

Caller Threatens McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police posted a guard about the home of Sen. Joseph McCarthy Tuesday after his next door neighbor reported she had received a telephoned warning that "we are going to blow up Joe McCarthy tonight."

Reporters talked to the neighbor, Mrs. George W. Ennis, after friends of McCarthy told of the phone call.

Mrs. Ennis' home adjoins McCarthy's in a row of houses joined together.

McCarthy said he believed the warning came from "some crackpot."

"I wouldn't imagine this is something serious or they wouldn't have called in advance to advertise their plan," he said.

Mrs. Ennis said the caller was "a man with a foreign sounding voice."

Set To Study North Pole

Scheduled to leave Teterboro, N.J., today for preliminary studies around Hudson Bay, these three people hope to land at the North Pole in March as part of an Arctic expedition. They are Miss Peggy Keenan, Dr. Paul Seydell, left, and John F. Stanwell-Fletcher, commander and sponsor, a former RCMP officer in the north.

This unusual experimental plane has been chosen to land the main party of the expedition at the North Pole. On board will be 20 expedition members and 41 dogs. The plane can take off or land in only 1,500 feet. The expedition hopes to perfect an instrument that can gauge the thickness of Arctic ice and determine its suitability for plane landings.

More Jobs Needed

All Parties Praise Jobless Aid Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—All parties in the Commons Tuesday commended a government-proposed boost in supplementary winter unemployment insurance, but opposition speakers said the government has not gone far enough or fast enough in fighting unemployment.

By unanimous agreement, the House interrupted formalities of the throne speech for its introduction. The government is hopeful of adoption later this week. In that case, its provisions would become effective from the start of the week.

These provisions are:

1. Increasing the supplementary benefit payments to equality with regular benefits. The supplementaries—paid between January 1 and April 15—to those whose normal benefits have expired now run to between 67 and 81 per cent of normal.

2. A minimum 60 days of supplementary benefits a year. Minimums in different categories now vary from 18 days upwards.

GREGG EXPLAINS

In presenting the bill, Labor Minister Gregg said that on the basis of last winter's unemployment supplementary insurance would cost $22,000,000 annually compared with $12,000,000 a year ago. The money will come from the insurance fund.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West), labor specialist for her party, said she welcomes the bill but it should have been considered at a 1954 fall sitting of Parliament.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver-Kingsway) said the bill is "most welcome" but will fail to relieve the situation to any considerable extent. Unemployment insurance was not a cure for unemployment.

He suggested that $100,000,000 be used from the unemployment fund for works to create jobs.

CITES LOGGERS

Thomas Barnett (CCF-Comox-Alberni) said the government should do more to meet the increasing unemployment difficulties of British Columbia loggers who suffered enforced layoffs during the summer fire months as well as the winter months.

Colin Cameron (CCF-Nanaimo) said the insurance measure is like an aspirin administered for a headache; it does not cure.

"It is a Micawber-like measure," he said. "Unemployment insurance is being extended in the hope that something will turn up."

War Would Finish Britain 'in 32 Hours'

HARLESTON, England (CP)—Aneurin Bevan said here Tuesday night that Britain would last only 32 hours if a major war broke out.

This is the view of scientists "with every circumstantiation to prove it," the leader of the left wing of the Labor party said. "War between nations is no longer a matter of policy but an act of suicide."

There is only one way to find out if Russian invitations for a high-level meeting are serious, he said in a speech, and that is to respond to them.

Invaders Near Capital

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Costa Rica said Tuesday airborne armed forces have seized several north Costa Rica towns and advanced on a direct invasion route to this capital city.

The government later charged "active aggression" on the part of Nicaragua, and said it expects "to receive military aid" from western hemisphere nations to "repel forces of invasion."

Costa Rica's available armed manpower was quickly mobilized. A break in relations between Costa Rica and neighboring Nicaraugua appeared imminent.

Nicaragua countered that Costa Rica's charges were foolish.

TOWN SEIZED

Costa Rican President Jose Figueres said Villa Quesada, a town of 3,500 about 40 miles this side of the Nicaraguan frontier, was seized Tuesday morning by a force that landed there in light planes. This was the first reported incident.

Maj. Roberto Fernandez of the headquarters staff of the civil guard, said a detachment sent from San Jose made contact with the rebel group.

He said an observation plane sent over the area returned bearing bullet holes and reported scattered small-arms fire. There was no estimate of the size of the force at Villa Quesada.

50 REBELS

Reuters correspondent Terence Stocken reported Costa Rican forces were attempting to surround about 50 airborne rebels who seized Villa Quesada.

Stocken said the Costa Rican government also is using DC-3 airliners to bomb and strafe the rebels, who are reported to be building an airstrip as a springboard for air attacks on San Jose, the Costa Rican capital.

Hearing Date Set By Sloan

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan will open a royal commission on B.C.'s forest industry in Victoria February 21, he announced last night.

The survey is expected to take at least a year.

He undertook a survey of the forestry situation in 1945, when he recommended a further review in not more than 10 years.

Chief Justice Sloan will act as a one-man commission. He has been given a free hand to call witnesses and hire counsel and other administrative assistance.

The provincial cabinet has set out a 13-point list of suggested subjects for the survey, making it clear they are inclusive "but not limiting" in any way.

Ontario May Impose Tolls

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government is considering toll highways as the only way to finance a demand for controlled-access highways, it was reported Tuesday night.

Government Asks:

Did Firm Entertain Federal Officials?

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will investigate whether any federal officials were entertained in a private country residence by a company seeking construction contracts.

A recent ruling of the income tax appeal board disclosed that an unnamed firm entertained public officials in a summer residence.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday in the Commons he will try to find out what was said at the closed hearing of the case and secondly if officials of the government were entertained.

He said he was "very much surprised" by the disclosure in the board's decision, issued Saturday.

The judgment, signed by board member W. S. Fisher, said the company claimed deduction of $27,789 from its 1951 taxable income for alterations to the summer home "where officials and officers of the various government bodies could be entertained prior to negotiations of government contracts."

The governments or officials were not identified. The name of the company also was withheld because it had asked that the hearing of its appeal be held in private.

The board's judgment did not locate the property, but it is understood it was in Quebec province.

Claims Hair Record

Longest hair in Canada is believed to be that of Shirley Thomas, 15-year-old daughter of Ontario's agriculture minister. Shirley's hair, 41½ inches long, has never been cut although the ends have been trimmed. It is still growing. Shirley's cat is long-haired too.

Starting To List

Crew Sticking To Holed Ship

HALIFAX (CP) — Crew members of the leaking British freighter La Orilla stuck to their ship in the stormy North Atlantic Tuesday night as another craft stood by to give aid if needed.

Gales and giant seas punched a hole through the underwater plates of the 7,000-ton La Orilla and water poured in.

Her master, Capt. T. L. Bradford, reported in a succession of succinct messages that his ship was hove to, taking water in the No. 2 hold and was starting to list.

He made no mention of abandoning ship.

The Israeli freighter Tel Aviv sped to the scene and Marine radio here said she was standing by.

The United States coast guard cutter Bluejacket also sped from her base at Argentia, Nfld., and the salvage tug Foundation Josephine II sailed from Halifax.

SHIFT IN CARGO

At last reports the La Orilla had a 12-degree list and there was a danger her cargo would start to shift. She carries 36 crew members.

Capt. Bradford's first message reported a 12-degree list and said he would try to return to Halifax. Two hours later he said he was steaming in a northwesterly direction toward port and there was no change in the degree of list.

The La Orilla, owned by Buries Marks Ltd., of London, sailed from Halifax with a general cargo loaded at Saint John, N.B., and Halifax.

The storm that crippled her was the same one that has thundered against the Newfoundland coast for three days.

Limit Set On RCMP Territory

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — As an economy measure, the federal government has instructed the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to decline any new commitments for the policing of municipalities or provinces, Justice Minister Stuart Garson said Tuesday.

The RCMP polices all provinces except Ontario and Quebec. In B.C. and other provinces it polices a total of 125 municipalities.

The costs of policing borne by the municipalities are about 40 per cent of the cost of the force. Municipalities pay annually approximately $2,000 for each member of the force assigned to them, officials said.

With the federal treasury board having decided to hold new government spending to a minimum, it has been decided to halt any increase in policing services.

No reduction in the force is contemplated and there will be no termination of existing commitments. When a province or municipality decides it wants to renew its existing commitments, this will be done.

Scores Leap As Fire Hits Huge Planes

U.S. Paratroops Bail Out Safely

DENVER, Colo. (CP) — Seventy-two United States paratroopers on their way to manoeuvres in Alaska parachuted to safety Tuesday in two separate air accidents involving huge C-119 Flying Boxcars. The pilot of one plane was killed.

The men were part of a 3,000-strong paratroop force being flown from Kentucky to Alaska—a 4,300-mile flight with Edmonton one of the main stops. One hundred planes were involved in the operation.

Thirty-four paratroopers and three crew members parachuted to safety when their C-119 crashed and burned after takeoff from Sewart air force base in Tennessee.

Two airmen were reported missing.

The pilot, who held his crippled plane on a straight course for the emergency bail-out, was reported to have stayed with the plane as it plummeted to earth moments later.

One paratrooper was admitted to the base hospital with minor injuries.

FORCED LANDING

The paratroopers aboard were members of the 503rd Airborne Infantry Regiment from Fort Campbell, Ky., the same outfit involved when 33 soldiers parachuted to safety as their plane made a forced landing near Miles City, Mont., earlier in the day.

Lieut. James Reynolds, Melbourne, Fla., platoon leader of the infantrymen aboard, gave this account of the bail-out:

"We had just climbed above the overcast when the crew chief came out of the cockpit and told us to get ready to jump. Then he went back into the cockpit a minute, came out and said, 'Bail out! An engine is on fire; we're feathering the props'."

He said the men, who apparently thought it was a drill at first, followed briefing instructions exactly and barely 30 seconds later the passenger compartment of the huge plane was empty.

ATOP TREES, CAR

The troopers floated down in near-freezing weather over an area more than three miles across, some landing in trees, one atop a parked car and many near the administration building on the base.

At Miles City 35 paratroopers got a head start on operation Snowbird Tuesday when a flaming engine forced them to jump into pre-dawn near-zero darkness near here.

If they had made their jump a few seconds earlier they would have made a mass drop right on the southeastern Montana city.

As it was, some early risers were so amazed to see the armed force of sub-arctic-bound parka-clad paratroopers in full battle dress they professed fears Miles City had been invaded and a third world war was on.

BULLETINS

MOOSE JAW (CP)—The magistrate presiding in police court Tuesday heard an unusual charge. Two youths were accused of obstructing transmission of electricity. George Boys and Allan Dancey are charged with entering a powerhouse December 25 and flipping a switch which cut off power.

'Can't Handle Big Affairs'

Tory Raps Socreds For Gas 'Bungling'

REGINA (CP)—Alvin Hamilton, leader of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative party charged Tuesday night that the entire future of western Canada natural gas development is in jeopardy because of "bungling" by Alberta's Social Credit government.

Mr. Hamilton, in a radio broadcast said it appears the Alberta government does not know how to handle big affairs.

Rising prosperity has created the idea the Alberta government was a good government.

"But now that big decisions are to be made they are making ruinous blunders that affect Saskatchewan as well as Alberta," Mr. Hamilton said.

LOST MARKET

Alberta's refusal for many months to permit export of gas lost much of the market in the northwest United States to Canadian natural gas, he said.

"Now their latest bungle is the uneconomic method of gathering gas in Alberta. The semi-private-public company set up to collect gas for the trans-Canada pipe line has loaded the producers with extra costs."

As a result, several producers had refused to sell gas for the suggested figure, placing the entire gas development program in jeopardy. A slow-down now in oil and gas development would mean all citizens of Saskatchewan would suffer.

These Britain-Based Planes Can Carry the A-Bomb

Here is an impressive view of NATO air might. In the line-up, as far as the eye can see, are U.S. Tornado jet bombers, capable of dropping the A-bomb. The 400-mph jets were arrayed at Sculthorpe, atom-bomb base at Norfolk, England.—(Central Press Canadian.)

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

JANUARY blues. . . .

My house reeks of oil. My son has picked up some new bad words. The dog is trying to dig a hole in the sofa. My hairline is receding.

And you tell me to look on the bright side? What bright side?

* * *

After lifelong resistance to "do-it-yourself," I have been stricken by the disease in its most deadly form: The dreaded "I can fix the oil stove" virus.

True, I saved a repairman's bill for reaming out the oil stove.

But I will probably have to pay an even larger bill for having all our clothes cleaned; and perhaps the cost of living in a hotel for a week to give the house a chance to rid itself of the oil smell.

In replacing the filter on the valve, I managed to strip the thread on a bolt that held a clamp in place, with the result that oil began streaming from the valve. Bloop! Bleep!

We had it like that for a couple of days. I have since fixed it, but the smell remains with us.

When you first enter the house, it smites you like a wall; but after an hour or so you no longer notice it. That's the part that scares me. I fancy I see other people leaning away in disgust.

Living with a smell must be much like living in sin: you get used to it, but other people don't.

* * *

And talking about sin, there is the matter of the small boy's bad words.

"Goodness knows where he gets them," I declare, but my wife says she knows only too well. The boy was standing by when his daddy worked on the oil stove. And you know how oil stoves are. They need a bit of talking to, especially when a nut sticks, or you wham your head against a sharp corner of the metal.

* * *

And then there is the dog. She suffers from the delusion that sofas are choice soft meadows, suitable for burying bones. She has already carved out a pit in the old sofa that we keep on the front porch, and now she is starting to work on the new one (not yet paid for).

Worst of all, my forehead seems to be expanding at an alarming rate, and my hairline falling back to a previously prepared position.

Also, I cut myself shaving today. The roof leaks. I went to help a friend start his car by giving it a push with my own—but my car wouldn't start. I had to call in a garageman. And I got a parking ticket.

Now you tell me your troubles. On second thoughts, don't bother. You're boring me already.

For B.C. Fishermen

Ottawa Studies Insurance Plan

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Major-Gen. George Pearkes, VC, was told by Labor Minister M. F. Gregg in the House of Commons yesterday that the question of extending the Unemployment Insurance Act to fishermen is being studied favorably and the extension to "near-fishermen" was also under consideration.

The Conservative member for Esquimalt-Saanich urged [illegible] extension of these benefits so that fishermen, and men who are connected with the fishing industry and who are not perhaps actual fishermen, may receive coverage.

There were certain companies [illegible] employ a large number of men not actually fishermen in that they are not employed in the catching of fish but with the lifting of fish from various traps which are established legally in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, General Pearkes stated.

He particularly referred to men employed in such companies as the Sooke Fishing Company as pile drivers, and men who are employed in the repair of the leads which guide the fish into their traps.

The minister replied that the study of the matter affecting fishing fishermen proper "has been continuing with good hope that some results might accrue from it."

Regarding near-fishermen: "That is something that is being studied as a side issue by the Unemployment Insurance Commission."

Education About Sex Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP)—A proposal to introduce sex education in British Columbia schools has been rejected by a group of parents here.

By a vote of 2-1 some 100 members of the Sunerest Parent-Teacher Association defeated a bid to take the resolution to the provincial PTA convention in April.

Dr. R. G. E. Richmond, medical health officer at Oakalla prison farm and one of eight speakers at the meeting Monday night, said sex education should aim to bring about a mature, emotionally developed person and to prevent sexual morbidity.

But he said: "What is suitable for one child might not be for another of the same age."

Arthur Laxton, Scoutmaster, said although boys under 14 generally have no interest in the subject, it should be taught and the lack of knowledge displayed shows it is not being taught in the home.

N. Schroeder, group training officer at Oakalla, said, "Keep sex education out of the schools. Sex attitudes are what we are concerned about and they get these in the home."

Society Has Strict Rules

Respectable Oglers Unite

NEW YORK (UP)—Any advertising man is cooking up a new kind of "really democratic beauty contest," he said Tuesday. Votes will be cast solely by men who move only their eyeballs while looking at girls.

"It's all very respectable, believe me," said Don Sauers, the contest sponsor.

In fact, the operating rules for members of Sauers' "American Society of Girl Watchers"—who will vote by mail so even their eyeball-rolling may be private—are so discreet there's some question of how they're ever going to line up contestants for the beauty crown.

Sauers' society fosters indulgence in a man-woman relationship similar to that fostered by the Audubon Society between man and bird. The reward, he said, is "a warm, quiet and internal pleasure," similar to that of the bird watcher but with a more universal appeal.

Since girls are presumed to have more arousable reactions than birds, the watchers must be even more discreet than their Audubon counterparts. Under no circumstances do they whistle. Head turning is frowned upon. They do not nudge their companions.

To actually approach a girl, to speak, to ask her name or number "would be like a bird watcher stealing eggs," said Sauers. "It's unthinkable."

There, for beauty contest purposes, is the rub.

Sauers thinks he has it figured out, subject to a better idea later. The man who doesn't know the name of his favorite "girl to watch" may break the rules sufficiently to hand her an entry blank. After that it's up to her to decide whether to send in her photograph.

The contest is still some time off. The society is still discreetly soliciting a favored membership. Sauers said the response has been heartwarming.

One new member wrote the invitation had so brightened his life he had abandoned suicide. Members come from 21 states. Sauers has had just one direct turndown. It read: "I am a girl."

But that's another nice thing, Sauers said. Girls like being watched.

"I think it's because it flatters without offending," Sauers said.

Contract Let For Roadbed

Contract for construction of 2.5 miles of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway roadbed between North Vancouver and Squamish has been awarded to Dawson, Wade and Co. for $1,027,227.

The Vancouver company submitted the lowest of six tenders opened by PGE vice-president Einar Gunderson last week.

Officials say track laying up to the Capilano River Bridge will begin at the end of this month. The Dawson, Wade roadbed contract is the last to be given.

All that remains to be contracted are bridges and a viaduct at Britannia Beach.

Planning Group Set for Victoria

A Greater Victoria branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada will be formed at a meeting at 8.15 p.m. Monday in city hall council chambers.

"It will be a citizens' organization and not a professional organization," Brahm Weisman, director of the Capital Region Planning Board, said yesterday. "Any citizen interested in town planning can be a member."

The branch will include Victoria, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Saanich, Central Saanich and unorganized territory.

Central task of the group will be promotion of better urban planning and the maximum amount of planning in all communities.

The branch will also assist communities to work toward better town planning.

It will suggest that municipal councils hire planning technicians and make planning a "normal function of government," Mr. Weisman said.

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Thomas White, Australia's high commissioner in London, Monday launched the biggest drive for British immigrants to Australia since 1951, when more than 44,000 persons went. White said more than 2,000 berths a month now are available for immigrants.

Too Much Specialization

Lecturer Says Students Lost in 'Multiversities'

BY SHEILA HARDIE
Colonist Victoria College Reporter

A member of the Students' Christian Movement, national staff, Robert Miller, who lived near Stuttgart for two years, spoke on divided Germany to students and lecturers at Victoria College yesterday.

Here from Winnipeg, Mr. Miller now will travel east across Canada visiting all universities on the way.

Sponsored by the College International Relations Club and the Students' Christian Movement, he will give another talk on Protestantism, before he leaves.

Mr. Miller's favorite subjects concern general problems of the university and of modern education. He feels that today's universities are too large, and their courses too specialized.

Obviously not referring to Victoria College, Mr. Miller said that many universities are so large that students feel lost; that they might well be known as "multiversities."

He believes both science and arts graduates get no integrated conception of the world from their university training. German education is no improvement on our university system, Mr. Miller says.

There are classical universities in Germany for the arts students, and special technical schools for engineers and scientists, so that the same problem presents itself there. Less specialization in university training would perhaps reduce the tension between the arts and science faculties, he thinks.

Coalition Unlikely

A coalition of CCF and Social Credit in an attempt to gain power at Ottawa is not impossible, according to Professor David Corbett of the UBC.

But he admitted it was unlikely when he addressed a university extension course audience here Monday.

Professor Corbett, an associate in the university's political science department, predicted only one more "sure-fire" election victory for the federal Liberals.

He said the Conservatives will take over the government, but will be unable to hold power because of "old-style organization" in its political machine.

Professor Corbett said his predictions were based on study of political trends in Canada during the last 50 years.

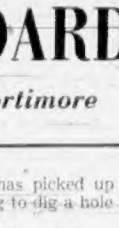
Garden Notes

Easy-Doers Best In Rock Garden



BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS.

There are lots of these easy plants to choose from, but it is important not to go overboard on any particular kind.

In planting up the rock garden as an ornamental feature of the garden, first choice should be given to the easy, free-flowering kinds which will give a bright display over the longest possible period of time.

These "easy-doers" should form the foundation of the planting scheme, after which we can indulge our fancies in growing the more difficult and expensive alpines which call for special treatment.

For instance, no plants are more colorful in spring than the Aubrietias, but if you plant too many, you'll get one great blaze of color for a short period in the spring, and nothing at all for the rest of the year.

BEST METHOD

The Aubrietias look best, I think, when they are draped down over vertical rock faces, and some of the loveliest are Carnival, a rich violet-purple; Crimson Queen, Russell's Crimson, Mrs. Lloyd Edwards (purple) and Maurice Prichard, bright rose.

The Aethionemas are sun-worshippers, and thrive in crevices or well-drained pockets of rather limey soil. Most popular of all is Warley Rose, which forms cushions of waxy-grey foliage six inches high, smothered in May and June with small heads of brilliant rose-pink flowers.

The golden Alyssum is a most effective partner for the Aubretias, flowering at the same time. Where space is limited, there is one called Alyssum saxatile compactum which stays put and doesn't encroach upon its neighbors.

The perennial Candytufts should have a place among the foundation rock plants. These little evergreen sub-shrubs thrive in any sunny pocket, and if trimmed back occasionally, will smother themselves in white or purple flowers in May.

ONE OF BEST

For my money, the trailing Arenaria montana is one of the very best among the easy rock plants, bearing masses of white flowers in May; also the purplish Erinus alpinus and its carmine sister, Dr. Hanaele, which will seed itself freely in rock crevices.

The prostrate kinds of Phlox are a must, of course, and thrive in gritty loam in full sun. I shear mine back hard after flowering, and dump a good handful of mixed leaf mould and sand into the middle of each plant. This often induces a second flush of flowering.

For sheer brilliance of color, there are few among the easier rock plants to compare with the sun-loving Helianthemums or rock roses. These, too, benefit from cutting back after the first flowering, with a top dressing of sandy loam.

Toughest little commando of the lot is the Carpathian Bellflower, Campanula carpatica, with white or blue blooms. I have one self-sown seedling growing in a dimple in the top of a rock where there is less than a tablespoonful of soil.

YMCA Offers Spring Course In Speaking

Frank Paulding's international institute of public speaking will be one of the courses featured this spring by the YMCA.

A demonstration session and dinner will be held January 26 at 6 p.m. Interested persons can obtain further information from the YMCA.

A ski trip to the Forbidden Plateau is planned for the week end of February 5 and 6, leaving on the evening of February 4.

Forty-two reservations already have been made for the YMCA bus tour in July, which will take in the Okanagan, Kootenay Valley, Montana and Canadian parks in the Rockies.

Surveyors Meet Here Thursday

Fiftieth anniversary of the Corporation of Land Surveyors of British Columbia will be marked when surveyors from all over B.C. hold their annual meeting in Victoria Thursday and Friday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Lands Minister R. E. Sommers are expected to address the surveyors and their guests at the annual dinner Thursday evening in the Empress Hotel.

Shot Down off Europe

Missing Airmen Believed in Prison

BERLIN (AP) — A Detroit man back from slavery in the Soviet Union expressed the belief Tuesday that eight U.S. fliers shot down off Europe in 1950 may be alive in Soviet prison camps.

John H. Noble, 31, spent 9½ years in Soviet captivity. As a prisoner at the Vorkuta slave labor camp he witnessed the 1953 revolt there. He said the slave laborers need "only a spark" to flare into open rebellion. He declared the forced labor brigades are restless, have rebelled in the past and are likely to do so again.

Noble said he had been told at Vorkuta that the American airmen were held in a Soviet prison. He called it common knowledge at Vorkuta that some Americans who came down in the Baltic Sea were in captivity.

A U.S. Navy Privateer, a four-engine plane, disappeared over the Baltic in April, 1950, with 10 men. The U.S. government in notes to Moscow contended the crew apparently had man-[illegible] partly-inflated life-rafts were found.

The Soviets would concede only that they had fired upon an American bomber of the B-29 type which, they contended, violated Communist territory.

An Integrated Plan

THE reported decision of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. to start construction now on an integrated expansion in the Port Alberni area will be good news for Vancouver Island. The proposals contemplate new newsprint and kraft paper mills, enlargement of the existing pulp mill, a coastal dock to facilitate shipping, and a dovetailed method of using mill waste in the manufacturing process. Part of the development was covered in the firm's pledge to the provincial government in connection with its forest management license; but, like everything that MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. has set its hand to, the new construction will be a rounded out and integrated development and one of considerable importance to the whole Island.

The additions will mean an extension of British Columbia's already significant newsprint production, and progress along the line of co-ordinated programs wherein by-products come from a class of material that not too long ago would have been considered as mill waste. Inasmuch as each new stage of manufacturing with forest products as its base helps to increase the value of the timber so handled, the gain will be twofold. The expenditure of some $30,000,000 on the new plants contemplated, with the employment later of a working force of several hundred men, should prove a welcome boost to several Vancouver Island communities.

In a broad sense developments such as this are helping to set the pace on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, which in the next few years may witness revolutionary changes in its economic importance. What the John Hart power development in the Campbell River area began on the East Coast of the Island through the accession of new hydro-electric energy in commercial loads at reasonable rates, is being carried forward in some part at least through the province's determined action on forest management policy. In addition, while factories and payrolls are important, the new roads which will open up the West Coast area and make its resources available will of themselves be invaluable.

Bumpers on Trucks

OWNERS of motor vehicles are being reminded by the Victoria police that they have only until March 1 to equip them with adequate mudguards over and behind all wheels, rear as well as front. This is to comply with a new regulation under the Motor Vehicle Act added by the provincial government last year, with a generous time allowance for compliance.

With the exception of a few teenagers' "jalopies," the rule does not affect automobiles, whose wheels are amply covered by fenders. For operators of trucks, few of which have any shielding at all behind the rear wheels, it involves alterations which they should be attending to now, as the police apparently are determined to see that the regulation is obeyed as soon as it comes into force. The new rule is another step in the provincial government's campaign for safer operation of trucks, which has resulted in a general tightening up throughout the province.

Other items of truck equipment, however, have yet to be covered effectively by a provincial code. In particular there is the matter of bumpers which, as fitted at present, afford little or no protection to automobiles. The need appears to be for regulations requiring trucks to be fitted with bumpers both rear and front, and setting a standard height for them on all vehicles.

Most trucks have bumpers on the front only, with nothing at all at the rear. As the body or platform usually extends several feet behind the back wheels a head-to-tail collision between a car and a truck causes far more extensive damage to the former than would be the case in a bumper-to-bumper impact. Many cars are now built low enough for the front end to run right under the tail of a truck or trailer so that the first contact would be made at the level of the car's windshield, thus greatly increasing the danger of injury to its occupants. While trucks as a rule are equipped with front bumpers, more often than not they are so much higher than those fitted to automobiles that the latter have no protection at all.

Bumpers are virtually useless unless they are attached at a height uniform for all vehicles. Besides lessening danger to life and limb, a provincial regulation to that effect would be bound to reduce claims on insurance for costly repairs to grillwork and the like, and thus might make possible a further drop in premium rates. The co-operation of manufacturers would be necessary, but someone has to start the ball rolling and provincial governments are in the best position to do it.

The Canadian Uniform Overseas

UNDER the law it is an offense for anyone not in the services to wear the uniform of Canada's armed forces, as of course is right and proper. Military uniforms belong only to those who serve the state in this capacity, and it would not do to permit others to masquerade in this guise. There is the prestige of the forces to be concerned and also, very important in the present dubious times, the vital matter of security. This law has long been recognized as essential in all countries.

If there ever is a loophole in a law someone is sure to find it, however, and one defense counsel in Great Britain recently used such an escape avenue to secure the acquittal of a British civilian found wearing an RCAF uniform. He argued successfully that under an amendment to an old U.K. act dealing with the wearing of military uniforms Dominion forces, now being autonomous, were no longer Her Majesty's forces within the meaning of that act. Like many another statute which is amended a legal gap had been left of which the defense counsel took full advantage.

A report from Ottawa says the federal government is considering whether or not to ask the British government to correct the legislation concerned. There would seem to be no room for any hesitation. Obviously whatever steps are necessary to restore the sanctity of a Canadian military uniform in the United Kingdom should be taken without delay. The Statute of Westminster may have altered the legal situation because of an ill-drafted amendment but Canadian troops are still in Her Majesty's service. In fact they are the more clearly so designated elsewhere because the monarch is now titularly cited as being also Queen of Canada.

In any case civilians in Britain cannot be permitted to run around in a Canadian military uniform with impunity. The security angle is all-important, as is the reputation of the Canadian forces now serving in the United Kingdom. Their presence there in fact makes it desirable that the matter should be adjusted forthwith, and the uniform they wear made as legally inviolate as it is in their home land.

Interpreting the News

Caught in Its Own Trap

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

IMPORTANT inferences may be drawn from information brought back by a young American from the horrors of a Soviet slave labor camp in the Arctic. The most important of these seems to be that a totalitarian regime, based primarily on repression and terror, is caught in its own trap.

* * *

The post-Stalin regime in Moscow has found in many instances that even if it should want to open a safety valve and relax its total grip on the population, it cannot do so without grave risks. To people for so many years deprived of liberty, a little freedom is like a fuse to dynamite.

* * *

John H. Noble of Detroit was eyewitness to events in the notorious Vorkuta prison camp. He has described a rebellion there which had to be met with armed force.

The significant thing about the rebellion was that it came not at a time of greatest suffering and oppression, but when the Communist regime, worried over the effects of Stalin's death on its own internal situation, was trying to open a safety valve. An amnesty had been declared, freeing tens of thousands of prisoners who had been sentenced to prison for offenses which no normal nation could consider serious crimes.

* * *

But a bitter struggle for power also was going on. The internment of millions of Soviet citizens in slave labor camps had built up a vast, smoldering bitterness among the population. Fanned to flame, that could be a powerful political instrument.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

AT the school next door, on a playground which as I have remarked before should make the school board wince, a group of boys were playing with a basketball. That is not unusual but what they were doing with the ball was. Instead of striving to put it through the basket they were practising heading, an art which belongs to soccer football and not to basketball.

This intrigued me at once, so I stayed a few moments to watch. One boy would throw the ball in the air and as it came down propel it with his head to another boy, and so on round the ring. They didn't do so badly either, keeping the ball going once with four or five headers in succession.

One's head I suppose is meant for thinking, as well as to show off one's looks since the face and the head are inseparable. But it is a handy instrument in other ways. Pugilists find it a very convenient target at which to aim, and it plays a big part in soccer games.

* * *

Headwork in this physical sense is important to a soccer player, although not all players are as adept with the head as they are with the feet. On wet days, for instance, it takes a sturdy mental effort to meet with the head a steep-dropping ball weighing a seeming ton, and some players dodge the test for fear of jarring the neck. A good man with his head, however, especially if he be a centre-half, is priceless. One such I remember, Raisbeck by name, could splay long passes as far and as accurately with his head as most others could with their feet.

But the playground scene next door evoked another aspect of headwork, having to do with eventual skill on a soccer field but nevertheless a game in itself, which sprang to mind as the years fell away and I mentally became as young as the boys I was watching. "Headies" I think we called the exercise, although now I cannot be sure.

At any rate the idea was to see how often one could bounce a ball—a small ball, perhaps a tennis ball—back and forth between the head and the blank space of a wall. The technique was to spread the hands wide against the wall, bend the knees slightly for supple movement, and sway back and forth and sideways as required by the return pitch of the ball. One learned to use the head like a tennis racquet and, believe it or not, give desired spin to the ball.

* * *

Some remarkable scores were achieved, running I think well into the hundreds, and perhaps no wonder for the game was often played for hours at a time in keen competition. Some skinned noses resulted too, for when the ball seemed likely to slither down the wall and break the sequence a precise and particular upward toss of the head was needful to restore the rhythm, and that meant split-second timing as the head almost grazed the wall. A misjudgment and one bashed one's nose or bumped one's forehead.

The schoolboys next door were in no danger of skinned noses since they were merely trying to keep the ball in the wall-free air, a much more difficult feat than the one I have described. A ball can't bounce back from nothing. Perhaps they never heard of the wall-ball game I cite, and I never see Victoria youngsters playing it, possibly because in our streets there seldom is a vacant wall on which small boys may practice this curious form of headwork. Where I came from there were miles of such walls. The North Ward boys must be embryo footballers, nevertheless, else why would they scorn the basketball net and play at soccer heading.

International Commentary . . .

Europe's Cautious Hopes

By ANTHONY BOWER, from Paris

EUROPE enters the new year with cautious hopes that in the coming months it will establish closer relations with its American ally.

In the self-critical mood of year-end review and new year's resolution, Europeans recalled that 1954 closed out with a burst of trans-Atlantic enthusiasm. Europe has loudly applauded the recent censure of Senator McCarthy and President Eisenhower's statements for moderation in international affairs.

For the United States to hear and understand the voice of Europe, it must remember that, sagely or foolishly, right or wrong, these two actions did much to spur pro-American feelings among the European allies.

But at the same time Europe was asking itself why it had so often come to cross-purposes with the United States. Behind the diplomats' expostulations of good will, it must be remembered, the European people do not hesitate to speak their often-critical mind. And as the viewpoints which reached the level of recent press expression showed, this continent fears that the path down which the Western allies must walk together into the future is still fairly well covered with trip-wires.

* * *

The influential French weekly l'Express has published an article on the reasons for American-European misunderstanding. Since it was written by Sir Oliver Franks, former British ambassador to Washington, the statement had international meaning and impact. Said Sir Oliver:

"There are four difficulties which are the origin of the misunderstanding. The first is the inevitable friction among even close friends. The second difficulty springs from the bitterness we feel about having lost our world supremacy. The third difficulty springs from the development of McCarthyism.

"The fourth difficulty," he continued, "is a much more serious one: it originates from the fear which many Europeans have of seeing themselves dragged by the United States into a third world war."

Great Britain's chief problem, he concluded, is its "inability" to make the United States understand the "reasons and implications of British foreign policy". Sir Oliver saw one encouraging sign for the future of the alliance: the United States and Europe are both sharing the blame for the breaches of good relations.

* * *

This strain of faint but firm hope runs through the thoughts Europe is thinking of 1955. The leftist French daily, Combat, suffers from such an acute social conscience that it cannot help considering United States prosperity is slightly bad taste. But it closed 1954 with the grudging concession:

"The United States seems gradually to be learning that the world will not tolerate the use of weapons of total destruction but demands . . . practical steps (raising the standard of living). Is America capable of such a sudden change of policy? Can it renounce its exaggerated realism and return to the idealism which is the best aspect of its history?

". . . Since the senator from Wisconsin was discarded it would seem the general attitude of American politicians and of the American people is far less uncompromising than it was . . ." . . .

Counting on the atomic bomb, "America started off on the wrong foot in the postwar world," Combat went on. "It prepared to fight against Communism with the same weapons that it would have used in a war against capitalist countries. But now it seems to realize that the results of this conflict depend far more on example than on armed force. . . ."

* * *

But while optimism that the Western alliance has a future marked 1954's closing days, there is no thought here that in 1955—or any foreseeable year—Europe will really understand the United States. Or that the United States will really understand Europe. Moreover, being the weaker party of the alliance, Europe is probably the more painfully conscious of what it conceives to be its ally's blunders.

Isiah Berlin, the eminent British philosopher, made this clear in a book review he wrote for the Sunday Times of London. The book was "Call to Greatness," by Adlai Stevenson.

"The chief danger to America," said Berlin, "is impatience, arrogance and a belief in quick solutions, which in its turn is based upon a fatal tendency to believe in 'absolutes of right or wrong, black or white' . . ."

Americans, in this European view, simply do not understand the "propositions" which Europe reveres. Berlin explained that he was referring to "sympathy, modesty and the temperate use of power". Instead, this European spokesman felt, Americans were obsessed by "quick panaceas and total solutions for problems which may be the by-products of a passing historical period, more like to disappear with it than be solved . . ."

Foot-Slogging Humanity

(From The Edmonton Journal)

IN spite of modern motor transport, the average person covers an amazing distance on foot during a whole year. If we thought much about our annual travels on shanks' pony, some of us might develop blisters just worrying about it.

The golfer, for instance, tramps eight and a half miles while playing 18 holes, and must cover some hundreds of miles during the golfing season. However, he does it for fun and likes it.

The stenographer may like nothing better than sitting in a well-padded swivel chair, but even she puts in about 43 miles a week at her work, and in most cases on high heels. This would total 2,000 miles a year.

It is the average housewife, however, who probably heads the list. Just in her own home, she logs an estimated 3,000 miles a year, and her mileage outside the house must make a very substantial addition. She is usually too busy to think about it, though she sometimes raises that familiar cry about "aching feet."

The pedal extremities which travel so far each year are prone, directly or indirectly, to 75 disorders; but fortunately they are of tough and durable construction. As a result, though they often lead a dog's life, they usually stand up well under the punishment. Indeed, the exercise is probably good for them.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Clerk—What are you doing there?

Juror—I was called to serve on the jury.

Clerk—But you must have known that you couldn't sit on a jury and try your own case.

Juror—Well, I suppose not. I did think it was a bit of luck.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

AT a junior hockey game the other day I sat where I could see tier upon tier of modern school children. And the impression they made upon me caused me to hurry home after the game and dig out of my dusty archives one or two of those group photographs of entrance classes that used to be taken—and may still be.

The faded pictures I gazed upon were taken 30 to 40 years ago. And the children in them bore little if any resemblance to the children I had been looking at an hour earlier at the hockey game.

The children of 30 years ago were tame. They were modest, subdued. My eye followed along each row of my almost-forgotten and wholly-forgotten fellow pupils. And there was about us all a sameness of expression, a queer similarity. Some were dark, some fair. Some were skinny, some fat. But in our little stiff bearing, our dumb expression, we were identical in one thing—no trace of individuality.

In my school days, not only was there no attempt to encourage individuality; it was systematically suppressed. So important were the few principles of reading, writing and arithmetic we had to learn that there was no time to be wasted in parleying with any nonsensical individuality in the little brats. Time enough for us to become individuals after we had acquired the means of individuality through the ability to read, write and figure.

The modern children I had been studying at the hockey game were anything but tame. They were wild and free. Unlike their mouse-like progenitors at their age, they were already half-adult in their bearing and expression. Their character was already evident in their faces and behavior. We were brats all alike. They are brats all different.

Married Drivers

IN British Columbia married men have proved such careful and safe drivers that the Independent Automobile Insurance Conference there has decided to cut their car insurance. Premium savings will run from 25 to 30 per cent, in different parts of the province.

All of which simply proves that wives in our sweet province on the coast are kind, good tempered, understanding and stable; for it is well known that few things produce so careless a driver as having had a row with the missus over breakfast.

Or, it may be tribute to the wisdom of the backseat driver. Salute to the ladies!

In Unorganized Areas

Last Plebiscite On Liquor Set

Electors in about 750 polling divisions in B.C.'s unorganized areas will go to the polls February 3 to vote on all four types of liquor outlets under the new Liquor Act.

Date for the vote was set yesterday in the provincial cabinet. About 95,000 voters are eligible. The vote will cover all areas in which the question of liquor outlets has not already been settled.

Local-option plebiscites have already been held in all cities, towns and villages where they were requested.

The vote will include parts of the Island electoral districts of Esquimalt, Saanich, Cowichan-Newcastle, Nanaimo and Comox. There will be polling divisions at Langford, View Royal and Shawnigan Lake as well as 18 others in the Esquimalt riding.

Police magistrate A. I. Thomas has been named returning officer for the Esquimalt district and Lewis Harvey of Sidney for the Saanich area. Other Island officers are N. Wright for Nanaimo, W. J. Pollock for Comox and W. G. Chappell for Cowichan-Newcastle.

It is expected the turnout will be small—as few as 5 per cent of eligible voters—because of winter conditions in B.C.'s Interior and Northern regions and because in many of the areas communities could not support liquor outlets.

One of the last votes held in an organized area, the municipality of Surrey, saw only 8 per cent of the voters out. There were 1,600 votes cast out of a possible 20,000.

Relief Sought

Exemption from sales tax of goods purchased by veterans with re-establishment credit funds and the statutory observance of Remembrance Day have been urged in a brief presented to the provincial cabinet by the B.C. command of the Canadian Legion.

The brief also urged sales-tax exemption for all school books and supplies.

The Legion wants B.C. to pass a special act similar to that of Manitoba which "specifically provides that Remembrance Day shall be observed on November 11 each year and lays down specific rules as to how the day shall be observed."

The command also asks for an amendment to the Properties Taxation Act to relieve Legion property in B.C. "at the discretion of the city or municipality concerned and of the provincial government in unorganized territory."

They also ask for increased help in the care of chronic patients who must depend on private nursing homes.

Reduced Sentence Favored

When the case of Crispin Zalinko of Courtenay was called in court of appeal yesterday Crown counsel W. H. M. Haldane, QC, supported a reduction in sentence because the man had struck a military policeman while under the influence of drink.

Defense counsel Alan Macfarlane asked reduction of sentence to the time spent in jail. Zalinko, a civilian employee at the Comox air base, was sentenced in mid-December to four months' imprisonment.

The court held there were insufficient facts before it and took "a serious view of a peace officer being assaulted." It asked for a probation officer's report.

Hearing was adjourned to a date to be set during the appeal session.

Court set February 7 as date for the hearing of an appeal against conviction for murder by Peter Bordeniuk, an Alert Bay fisherman under sentence of death February 27 for the murder of his common-law wife.

February 3 is set for appeal of Patrick Mullen of Victoria against conviction for indecent assault.

No date has been set for the civil appeal of T. A. Cresswell from dismissal of a slander suit against L. G. Hatcher, former civil defense co-ordinator here.

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Communist China is using Japanese fishing boats to smuggle out narcotics to international markets, the Nationalist interior ministry's Tatao news agency said Monday. Tatao quoted a Chinese fisherman who escaped from the Chu Shan islands. These islands, 100 miles south of Shanghai, are the base for the smuggling operations, the agency said.

Phone Firm Begins $400,000 Program

B.C. Telephone Company is installing almost $400,000 worth of equipment in Greater Victoria.

It is part of an expansion program to provide additional automatic telephone service in fast-growing areas.

Purchase of another $400,000 worth of equipment is scheduled for next year.

The first phase of the program will be completed by July.

A cable installation to provide additional trunk facilities to Belmont office at a cost of $36,000 will be finished this month.

A $110,000 job, which includes placing underground cable in the vicinity of the Blanshard Street office, will be completed by the end of March.

Equipment costing $252,000 is being placed in the Blanshard office and will be in service by July. The complex work is being carried out by a crew under foreman Charles Bennie.

Overhead and underground cable containing some 30 million feet of wire will be strung and laid during the first phase.

Areas to be served include Richmond Road, Willows Park, Fairfield adjacent to Cook, Cook north to Pandora, Harrison Street, Hillside Avenue and Landsdowne Road.

Socreds Sponsor Course

Lucien Maynard, attorney-general of Alberta, will conduct a study course in Victoria on banking and monetary policies along the lines of his recent personal representations to the House of Commons on behalf of Alberta.

The course, sponsored by the Victoria Constituency Association, Social Credit, will be held January 18, 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. in the Lower Ballroom, Crystal Garden. There will be a silver collection, but high school and college students will be admitted free of any charge.

Minister Waits To See Bill

Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers yesterday refused comment on the federal plan to block the B.C. government's Kaiser dam deal until he has seen legislation introduced Monday in Ottawa.

He said he would receive a copy of the federal bill in a day or two, after which he would issue a statement on B.C.'s position in the case.

But earlier Mr. Sommers said the province would go ahead with the dam. At one time he said the province would go to the courts if necessary to prove what he termed its right to control its own natural resources.

The federal government apparently intends to rush through legislation which will require a federal license for export of water power.

Ontario Soon At Hawaii

The cruiser Ontario will reach Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Thursday to complete the first leg of her three-month cruise to Australia, a naval spokesman said yesterday.

Aboard are 79 cadets of HMCS Venture, first members of the new officer training establishment here to go on a long cruise.

The destroyer Athabaskan and the frigates Stettler and Jonquiere, which are accompanying the Ontario to Pearl Harbor, will not proceed beyond Hawaii.

MONTREAL (CP) — Few price changes were noted in quiet trading on Montreal bond markets.

On the corporate side of the new issues were a shade better. The Husky 5s of '69 firmed ½ at 103 and Imperial 3¾s of '75 improved ¼ at 99½-99¾.

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
3 N.T.	All Pass

When your long suit is weak and the top cards are in short side suits, it is best to beware of no-trump play. South ignored this general principle because he had the unbid suit so well stopped.

West opened the nine of diamonds. South won the trick with the king and promptly went after the hearts, leading to dummy's queen and back to his king. Now, belatedly, South shifted to clubs. He led low toward the queen. East won and returned a diamond. South took the ace and played the jack of clubs. West won with the king and made a fine play. A low spade lead would have given South re-entry with the queen and permitted him to make the rest of the tricks. However, West led the king of spades. Dummy's ace was taken, and dummy rushed the ace and led another heart to put West in. If West had held the jack of spades, the contract might still have been made, but he didn't. When West led the nine of spades through the defenders got three spade tricks to put the contract down two.

South's early heart play was foolish. If the heart suit broke, there was no need to play hearts early; if it did not break, declarer would need a trick somewhere else. Hence, his correct play on winning the first diamond was a low club to dummy's queen. If East won the trick and shifted to a low spade the contract might still be defeated because the heart suit broke unfavorably. But South would have given himself the extra chance that the diamonds would be continued—a not unlikely play—in which case his contract would have been ironclad and, in fact, he would have made five odd.

Woman Cleared in Fur Coat Case

A police constable's evidence cleared Mrs. Dorothy Williams in city police court yesterday on a charge of theft of a fur coat.

She had been charged with theft of a coat valued at $228 from Donald Yemen, a traveling salesman, but the charge was amended to include the T. Eaton Company because the coat was bought under a purchase agreement.

Defense counsel James J. Proudfoot called Const. Albert Wilson.

The constable said he had been called to a John Street home at [illegible] Christmas morning, where Yemen and Mrs. Williams were arguing. He testified he had heard Yeman say: "Honey, you know I bought the coat for you for Christmas."

Yemen later insisted he had bought the coat for his wife in Toronto, that it had been taken from his room in a hotel, but under pressure from defense counsel, who warned him against possible perjury, he admitted Mrs. Williams was with him when he bought the garment.

Yemen denied being at the John Street address on Christmas morning.

Harvey Stratford of Victoria was fined $50 or 15 days for theft of a parking meter January 4.

City court heard that at 12.45 a.m. at Blanshard and Caledonia Streets, two men were seen carrying a meter. Stratford was apprehended by police within the block in possession of the meter.

Defense counsel T. P. O'Grady said his client was very drunk and termed the act a "skylark."

* * *

John M. Howitt, 122 Beacon Avenue, Sidney, was on the move when he committed two offenses, city court heard yesterday.

Howitt pleaded guilty to charges on December 24 and January 6 of failing to notify the motor vehicle branch of changes in his address. He was fined $10 on each charge.

* * *

Charles D. Moore, 1505 Monterey, was fined $20 for exceeding 30 mph on Esquimalt Road.

* * *

Wayne Tenning, 1919 Fernwood, was fined a total of $60 in city court after he was convicted on one charge of driving while his license was suspended and pleaded guilty to a second similar charge. The offenses occurred December 18 and 19.

* * *

Magistrate Hall restricted the license of Ralph C. Kopperson, 145 Simcoe, to business driving for one month and fined him $35. Kopperson pleaded guilty to careless driving at Wharf and Yates Street December 28.

James L. Graham, 150 Island Highway, was fined $40 and his license suspended after he pleaded guilty to careless driving near Catherine and Langford Streets. He was involved in an accident.

Martin Cottet, 1127 Richardson Street, was fined $40 and remanded until Thursday for disposition of his driver's license. He pleaded guilty through counsel Donald Anderson to careless driving December 29 at Yates and Government Streets, where his truck struck a pedestrian.

* * *

Wayne Robertson, 160 Beechwood, was remanded until Monday in city court, after pleading guilty to a charge of false pretenses.

He cashed a worthless cheque at a Victoria drugstore, receiving $3 worth of goods and $2 in cash.

Monday he pleaded guilty to three similar charges in Esquimalt court and was remanded until January 17, when a probation report will be given the court.

* * *

Robert G. Roberts, a sailor, was fined $250 and his license recommended for suspension, after he pleaded guilty to impaired driving Monday night.

* * *

Further arguments will be heard from defense and prosecution counsel today in Esquimalt court in a charge against Mrs. Lois B. Spalling of Esquimalt.

She is charged with obtaining a car by false pretenses December 16 from Esquimalt Service Ltd.

Evidence at the earlier hearing this week was that cheques tendered by here were not honored by banks. Evidence also was given that the car she obtained was returned to the service station December 25.

Mrs. Spalling was arrested and charged December 28.

Magistrate H. C. Hall in requesting the arguments of defense counsel Herbert L. Masters and prosecutor T. P. O'Grady, yesterday said that after the car was returned, efforts were still made to sell or induce the accused to purchase the vehicle.

"Where that comes into this charge, I'm not clear," the magistrate said.

Canadian Star In Movie Whirl

BY VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Next best think to a movie for building a youngster's career is a cross-country tour beating the publicity tom-toms for a picture in which she appears.

Dianne Foster of Edmonton, the chestnut-haired filly Columbia is promoting to stardom, takes off this week on just such a junket. While visiting 13 cities Dianne will be paid as if she were working in a film.

"I'll be gone about a month," Dianne explained happily, "and I'll be seeing cities and states I've never visited before."

Her first stop is Minneapolis, and from there she goes to Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, Indianapolis, Columbus, Dayton, Akron, Syracuse, New Haven, New York, Washington, and Rochester.

"I'll spend a day or two in each city," she said. "The studio has arranged for me to appear on television and radio shows and in some places I'll go to theatres where our movie ("The Violent Men") is showing."

BEST HOTELS

Wherever she goes the Canadian-born actress will stay at the best hotels, eat in the finest restaurants and dress to the teeth. Columbia comes through with an expense account and pocket to boot.

"The studio provides me with a special wardrobe—a beautiful mink coat and creations by Jean Louis. I could never afford a wardrobe like that myself. I have to return them when I get back, though," she sighed.

Wolves are straight-armed by Dianne's chaperone, Lyle Rooks, Columbia's national magazine representative. Miss Rooks also turns down dates, dinner invitations and extra-curricular appearances.

This could lead to complications because Dianne is a singularly outspoken and independent young lady. Take her views on acting:

SLIGHTLY NEUROTIC

"All actors are slightly neurotic," she says. "We're exhibitionists, and we're that way because we either have an inferiority complex, or felt insecure and rejected as children, at least in our minds.

"You have to uninhibited, too, and a person of moods so you can express emotions without being self-conscious."

Dianne, who came to Hollywood via the London stage and British movies, says actors shouldn't take psychiatric treatment to get rid of complexes. "They need 'em like a jockey needs a horse," she laughed.

"Without frustrations and complexes an actor would be a normal persons. And who ever heard of a good actor who was normal!"

City Man Convicted Up-Island

Jr., of Victoria was convicted in police court here Tuesday of carrying a dangerous weapon.

Fagan was sentenced to 72 hours in jail and fined $125 and $50 costs.

Evidence indicated that Fagan and two companions, Ronald Berry and Roderick G. MacDonald, became involved in an argument in Chinatown with another party consisting of George Renaud, Leo Venne and Mrs. Bernice Enger.

Venne told the court that the Fagan party followed them home when they left Chinatown. Mrs. Enger said Fagan claimed that some member of their party was swinging a piece of pipe, and brought out his knife. She got out of the car, she said, and took it away from him.

Renaud said he did not think Fagan intended to use the knife but that he had it pointed at him.

Mrs. Enger received a scratch from the knife point when she stepped between Fagan and Renaud.

Power Cable Quickly Laid

B.C. Electric crews under supervision of J. W. Casey, line superintendent, took only 45 minutes Monday to lay down the $20,000 cable carrying power and communication facilities from Ten Mile Point to radio station CKDA's transmitter on Chatham Island.

The 9,500-foot cable was delivered from an Island Tug and Barge Company scow in calm seas, and will be in use late this week.

Cup Competition Set for Monday

Annual competition for the McTaggan Award Cup will take place at the meeting of Dale Carnegie Club International, Chapter A, to be held in the Chamber of Commerce board room, Wharf Street, Monday at 7.45 p.m. The award will be won by the person who gives the best, three-minute impromptu speech.

Noted Organist Dies at Duncan

Paul Michelin, celebrated radio and theatre organist, died last night in King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan. He was 59.

His talented fingers set the varying moods for thousands of silent movies in Victoria and Vancouver.

A pioneer of radio organ music, he built himself a second career on radio after talking pictures ousted the theatre organist. He became Western Canada's leading radio organist.

At the height of his career he was receiving hundreds of fan-letters every day. He won a cup as Western Canada's second most popular radio personality.

He joined the army in the 1939-45 war as an official entertainer, organizing concert parties for troops on Vancouver Island.

Since the war he had lived quietly at Cobble Hill, raising golden hamsters for a time, and then setting up practice once more as a music teacher.

He is survived by his wife; a sister, Mrs. Horace Plimley, Vancouver; two brothers, Frank Michelin, in Victoria, and Louis Michelin, head of the Austin Motor Co. for Canada, in Toronto.

Saunders Named Chief By War Pensioners

Members of the Victoria ex-servicemen; war widows and branch of the War Pensioners of Canada have elected Samuel Saunders as president.

Other 1955 officers are E. Nicholson, first vice-president; F. Goddard, second vice-president; R. C. Keane, secretary-treasurer, and F. Davies, H. Ward, M. W. Jamieson, J. Pitcairn, H. Burton and G. Morrison, executive committee.

The association works for all dependents, and persons receiving assistance do not have to be members.

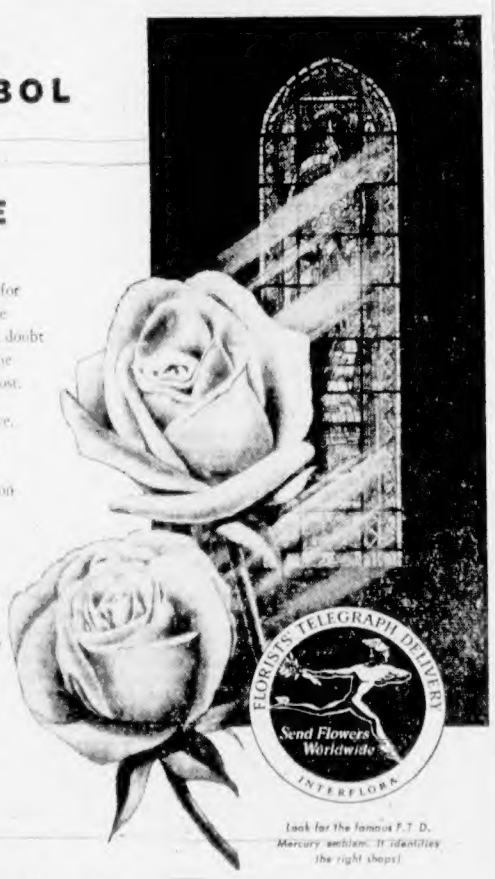
SYMBOL OF HOPE



FLOWERS express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

Because... like life... flowers flourish and fade. But there is something in their vital beauty that cannot wholly perish.

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

Look for the famous F.T.D. Mercury emblem. It identifies the right shops!

NEW CLUBS ANNIHILATE SPACE— I had a round the other day with a friend who has just bought himself a Christmas present in the shape of a new set of clubs.

As he went around testing out one club after another, he remarked that so far as the irons were concerned he thought they were much more powerful than those to which he was accustomed.

He found he could get rather farther with a No. 6 than he did with his old No. 5, and so on.

This is probably the experience of most people who buy these new irons with the weight all tucked into the sole of the club just behind where the ball should be hit.

Where is all this going to stop?

Things have now got to such a stage that there isn't a club in the bag, except perhaps the ubiquitous wedge, with which one can play a full shot from nearer than 100 yards to the flag.

Well maybe that's a good thing. It may see the revival of the half-shot that used to be so prettily executed by the old-timers, but which is now largely superceded by the wide range of lofted irons that allow the full slug to the green from nearly anywhere.

If we get irons so powerful that even a No. 9 will send the ball more than 120 yards, the man with the delicate silky touch is going to come back into his own.

* * *

HOLE IN ONE QUARTET—There's a quartet at Oak Bay which has been playing together about once a week for the last three years, that collectively has an impressive hole-in-one record.

Three of them have aced four times and the fourth member has two ones to his credit.

Bill Leach has holed out the 13th (twice), the 8th and 14th at Oak Bay. His partner Ron Fortt has done in one stroke the 8th and 14th at Oak Bay; the 7th at Colwood and the 6th at Cataraqui Club at Kingston.

On the other side, Leslie Bell has aced the 2nd and 9th (twice) at Oak Bay and the 17th at Calgary. His teammate, Arthur Musgrave, has had ones at the 7th and 13th at Oak Bay.

* * *

KEN LAWSON BAGS NO. 3—Here's another hole-in-one expert who's been at it again.

Ken Lawson, about whom we have heard only too little recently, holed out with a No. 3 wood at the 202-yard fourth hole at Uplands last week end. He was playing with Frank Jeffrey, Len Hibberson and Hugh Francis.

This was Ken's third ace at Uplands. He has previously holed out in one at the 16th (135 yards) and the 17th (265 yards).

I don't imagine that many players include two aces of over 200 yards, as Ken does, and the one at the 265-yard 17th is certainly a notability in itself.

* * *

EIGHTEEN HOLES LONG ENOUGH—It is interesting to note that it is from the United States the suggestion has come that such notable international events as the Walker and Ryder Cup matches would be improved if the matches were doubled in number but reduced in length from 36 to 18 holes.

After all, it was under U.S. leadership that the 36-hole match found its initial popularity. Somebody apparently had the idea that 18 holes was too chancy an affair on which to hang an important international event, or even a championship final.

Why this should be I have never quite been able to understand. After all, 18 holes is the standard length of a golf game, and except in the events mentioned hardly anyone bases a contest over the longer journey.

I think the Walker and Ryder Cups would be greatly improved if everyone had to play two singles and two foursomes over 18 holes, instead of one single and one foursome over 36 holes.

Only too often in these 36-hole matches the second half is merely a matter of routine in which the lamb is led painfully and circuitously to the slaughter.

On the other hand if the first half is level and ends all square, what was the use of it anyway? They have to start all over again for the next 18 holes.

The idea that over 36 holes the better man is more likely to win is not necessarily correct. In looking over some golfing records I would hesitate to say that the men who were ahead in golf finals at the 18th hole were any inferior to those who triumphed over the longer journey. Indeed in most cases they were one and the same person.

* * *

SEATTLE AMATEUR DOES WELL—Congratulations are due Seattle's Eddie Draper, well known in these parts, for finishing top amateur in the Los Angeles Open, only 11 strokes behind the leading pro, Gene Littler.

* * *

TEST FOR THE BUTTON HOLDERS — It looks as if everything that's best in Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs will have to come out Sunday, when the Victoria City button holders face the Colwood pair Laurie Kerr and George Andrews.

It is to the advantage of the holders that they will be playing on their own course, but apart from that there should not be much between the sides.

Bill Court, the Colwood pro, has made the forecast that this year Laurie Kerr will be the man to beat in local golf circles, and in George Andrews he has a buttons partner who has proved himself a fine match player by beating out the hot Colwood school for the club championship.

It remains to be seen how well the Colwood pair will get along as a team; it is in this respect that Morrison and Scrogg are so admirably suited.

I am sorry I shall not see this game, but by that time I hope to be speeding east to such old haunts as St. Andrews, Prestwick, Gleneagles and Carnoustie . . . and maybe before I come back, you will be hearing from me.

How the Money Rolls In!

When donations for the Ken Griffin fund topped the $1,000 mark during a 1¾-hour benefit show over radio station CJVI last night, it was a big moment for staff members and the Hometowners, who provided the entertainment. Proudly looking at the total which had just been posted on the board are, left to right: Al Smith, Ernie Fullerton, Bob McGill, Fred Usher, Hugh Curtis, Lois Henderson and Ted Reynolds. Back row: Geoff Venables, left, and Bill Botten.

Quakers Win, 5-1 Against Canucks; Play Here Tonight

Vancouver	39	14	21	4	104	131	32
Saskatoon	42	10	28	4	123	164	24

Last night's score: Saskatoon 5 at Vancouver 1.
Next games, today: Saskatoon at VICTORIA, Edmonton at Calgary.

Saskatoon Quakers helped out Victoria last night when they trimmed Vancouver Canucks, 5-1, before 4,200 Vancouver fans but the Quakers won't be in a helpful mood tonight when they tangle with the Cougars at Memorial Arena.

Mired deep in the cellar, the Quakers rose up and hurt Vancouver's chances of gaining a Western Hockey League play-off berth as Ray Manson, 28-year-old leftwinger, provided the spark with the 99th and 100th goals of his professional career.

Cougars will be attempting to keep their home-ice record clean against the Quakers tonight. They hold 8-2 and 3-0 victories at Memorial Arena although the Quakers have proven tough in the last two meetings at Saskatoon, winning 7-0 and gaining a 5-5 tie.

BENTLEYS TOGETHER

Leading the way will be the Bentley brothers—Max and Doug. Reunited for the first time at New York last year since 1946, the brother combination has been going well in recent games.

At Vancouver last night Saskatoon sharp-shooters were Eldie Kobussen, Max Bentley, Manson and Jack McLeod. Captain Jack Lancien fired the only Canuck marker.

Kobussen started the scoring spree at 5.52 of the first period, nudging a back-hand pass between Johnny Bower's legs.

Vancouver defenseman Harry Dick and Howie Milford drew the first penalties at 1.26 for a fight in the Canuck zone. Dick drew a minor and a major for his effort and Milford a minor.

GETS MINOR, MISCONDUCT

Saskatoon's Carl Kaiser got the heavy end of the next two penalties drawing a minor and a 10-minute misconduct for fighting with George Ford who was handed two minutes for high-sticking.

Canucks pulled even at 9.41 of the second on Lancien's blueline shot that Bev Bentley never saw. A pass from Tim Maloney came out of the scramble in front of the Quaker net and Lancien fired it back, bouncing the puck off the corner post.

Max and Doug Bentley teamed to drive in the winning goal a few minutes later. Doug brought the puck in and fired on Bower, who stopped the shot. Max came in through a loose defense to pick up the rebound and score.

The 99th goal for Manson came at 13.39 of the final frame as a clean shot that whistled past Bower's leg at knee level.

His second of the game and the one that made him the 21st WHL player to score 100 goals or more came at 19.06 after Bower had been pulled from the net.

McLeod picked up Manson's rebound at 19.30 for the final goal.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Saskatoon, Kobussen (Manson, McLeod) 5.52. Penalties: Dick (minor), major) 1.26, Milford 1.26, Pennington 2.35, Ford 9.48, Kaiser 13.16, Ford 18.30, Kaiser (minor, misconduct) 18.30, Barlow 19.39.

Second period—2, Vancouver, Lancien (Maloney, Brown) 9.41. 3, Saskatoon, M. Bentley (D. Bentley) 12.23. Penalties: Milford 4.09 Houghton 18.11.

Third period—4, Saskatoon, Manson 13.39. 5, Saskatoon, Manson (Pentimalo) 19.06. 6, Saskatoon, McLeod (Manson, Kobussen) 19.30. Penalty: Ford 10.38.

Helldiver on Hook At 150-Foot Depth

DUNCAN—Fish or fowl—it's all one to Henry J. Chown of Koksilah, near Duncan, when he goes a-fishing-hunting.

Recently off Greave's Point, Crofton, while out after bluebacks, Mr. Chown caught a helldiver on 150 feet of line and with a 12-ounce weight.

He said the diver must really have been deep, for his boat was almost stationary. "The resistance to the line was so great that for a while I thought I had a small spring on the hook," he related. "The diver was fighting all the way, and was pulled up to the boat with its wings spread wide."

Besides resisting the pull to the boat, the helldiver fought Mr. Chown when being released from the hook, caught in its lower beak, and bit savagely at his finger. Once released from the hook, however, it whirled away and was soon back diving. Mr. Chown was accompanied by Arthur Masters of Duncan.

Griffin Radio Show Boosts Fund $1,060

Telephones were jingling steadily for two hours Tuesday night at radio station CJVI and perspiring staff members were kept hopping as requests and donations for the Ken Griffin fund poured in to the tune of more than $1,000.

Fund officials were "amazed" at the total which grew steadily during the 1¾-hour show in aid of the polio-stricken former district league soccer player. Originally, the program was scheduled for one hour, but the sponsor extended the show another 15 minutes and station manager William Guild added half an hour to the benefit show.

CLOSER TO HOME

When the final donation had been pledged shortly after 8 p.m., the total stood at $1,060.15. That swelled the fund total to $2,528.73 and brought the day when the Griffin family can move into a new house just a little closer. All of the money contributed will go into a home for Griffin, his wife and two children.

Providing the entertainment during the program were the popular Hometowners and pianist Al Smith. Radio listeners requesting a tune sent along a donation with the request.

The program got away to a good start when Major C. J. Milley presented a cheque for $100 from the Salvation Army. After that, the pledges came in rapidly and the Hometowners had trouble keeping up with the requests.

Vamps Nip Clothiers To Seize Cage Lead

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	Pts.
Vampires	8	1	12
Individuals	5	2	10
Fletchers	3	3	6
Shamrocks	3	5	6
Copleys	0	8	0

Last night's score: Vampires 49, Fletchers 45.
Next game, Friday: Individuals vs. Copleys, 8.45, S. J. Willis gym.

Vampires took over sole possession of first place in the Victoria and District Basketball League's senior "B" men's circuit last night by edging Fletchers, 49-45, at the S. J. Willis gym.

In breaking a deadlock with Individuals and marking up their sixth victory in seven starts, Vampires were given a good tussle by the youthful Fletcher squad and were forced to come from behind a 25-17 half-time deficit.

Ken Murray sparked the losers with 15 points, 13 of them in the first half. Bill Dobbie was the only Vampire player to reach double figures, potting 13 points.

Ace Plumbers walloped Gordon Head Service, 74-8, in a juvenile boys' game, and First United scored a 28-17 victory over Tillicums in midget boys' action.

Line-ups:

Tillicums — Taylor 4, Wescott 8, Barnes 2, Longley, Reid 2, Lorimer 1, McKay, Beech. Total—17.

First United—Sadler, Chapman 4, Black 14, Dalbach 4, Max MacKinnon, Nelson 6, Main. Total—28.

Gordon Head—Bacon, Earle, Spilsbury 6, Skillings, Gibson, Kezler 2, Fraser. Total—8.

Ace Plumbers—Hitch 17, Fletcher 8, Rogers 12, Mills 6, Pomeroy 4, Smith 14, Lee 8, Foster 4. Total—74.

Fletchers—Martin 10, Simpson 8, Gilbert 6, Murray 15, Price 1, McMeekin 2, Catterall 2. Total—45.

Vampires—McCorkell 2, Page 7, Cunningham 3, Pimm 6, Olmstead 3, Garden 2, Mitchell 3, Crabbe 3, Lewis 3. Total—49.

Larson Stars In Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP)—Quarterback Paul Larson of California and fullback Carroll Hardy of Colorado passed and ran the College All-Stars to a 33-13 victory Sunday over the Hawaii All-Stars before 21,000 in the ninth Hula Bowl game.

Speedboats To Race Twice Across Strait

A marathon open speedboat race from Victoria to Port Angeles and return will be held on August 13, it was announced last night by the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association.

Further plans will be discussed at a meeting of the association tonight at the British Public Schools Club at 8.15, but groundwork has already been laid and out-of-town support has been assured for the first event of this kind ever to be held in the Northwest.

Substantial prizes will be offered for first, second and third places as well as first and second places in each of the six classes open for competition. The inboard classes are under 175 cubic inch, 176-226, and 227-388. Outboard drivers will be competing in the under 20 cubic inch class, 21-36 class and 37-65 section.

ENTRIES ASSURED

At least 20 entries have already been assured, including a number from Vancouver and the United States, and officials hope to have a number of boats competing in the Gold Cup race the previous week in Seattle on hand.

Starting time for the race has been tentatively set at 1.15 p.m. at the breakwater, and officials have estimated that two hours will be required to complete the course, depending on weather. However, the actual starting time will depend on the tides.

Air cover during the race will be provided by the Victoria Flying Club, while members of the Capital City Yacht Club provide water escort.

All boats will be according to Canadian boating specifications and the race has been sanctioned by the Canadian Boating Federation, which is affiliated with the American Powerboat Association.

LONG BREWING

The idea originated last summer when two members of the local association were among the party of escort boats for Flo Chadwick's attempt to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca. One of the members made the trip from Victoria to Port Angeles and return in less than two hours and plans have been under way since last fall.

Two outstanding Vancouver entries will be Charlie Cobus, owner-driver of the Mercury VII, and Jim Hudson and his Teaser IV. Hudson won the Canadian championship with his Teaser III last year, and Cobus has pushed the Mercury VII better than 100 miles an hour.

Speaking Briefly

Britain's Marylebone Cricket Club yesterday drew its match against a combined XI in Hobart, Tasmania. The Combined side had made 221 in its first innings and declared its second innings at 184 for six yesterday. MCC, 242, scored 99 for two in its second innings before the close.

Peturrson Rink Wins Consols Final Berth

Rinks skipped by Tony Gutoski and Frank Peturrson will represent the Victoria area in the British Consols Vancouver Island zone finals, which open at the Victoria Curling Club Saturday morning at 10.

Peturrson qualified for the second Victoria berth in the eight-rink round-robbin involving two rinks from each of the Victoria, Nanaimo, Alberni Valley and Duncan areas when he defeated Eric Bullock last night, 11-9, in a playoff. The two rinks had tied with 6-3 records in the city playoffs. Gutoski wound up with a 9-0 record.

Last night's playoff was a nip-and-tuck affair from the start and went down to the last end with Bullock leading, 9-8, after scoring three on the 11th to go ahead. Then, unfortunately, some of the edge was taken off Peturrson's win when Bullock's last rock picked up a piece of grit, swung crazily sideways, and stopped about halfway down the ice. Peturrson was counting three at the time and with last rock appeared to be home free with Bullock's sole chance a freeze to shot rock. Whether or not he would have made it will never be known.

DIFFICULT SHEET

The game produced some fine curling despite a rather tricky sheet (No. 4) of ice which had several tough runs and was definitely on the swingy side curling west. The lead changed hands four times and there was never more than two points difference in the score.

After a blank opening end, Bullock counted one when Peturrson twice ran afoul of a run and missed both his rocks while trying for a take-out in the four-foot circle.

Peturrson nudged Bullock out of shot rock with a draw on the third end, then drew to the button to count two and take the lead. But Bullock came back with three on the fourth end to take the lead, only for an end as Peturrson came back with two on the fifth to tie at 4-4.

It was 5-5 after seven ends, then Bullock got in trouble with the run on the eighth and missing twice, dropped behind, 7-5. He counted in the ninth with a neat raise getting in for shot rock and Peturrson got that one back in the 10th before Bullock laid his three-ender in the 11th to go ahead.

Peturrson and Gutoski meet tomorrow night at 9 in the first game of the zone final. Other finalists will also play their first game on their home ice with each of the rinks playing six games, three Saturday and three Sunday, to decide the two rinks which will represent Vancouver Island in the B.C. finals at Kamloops next month.

Victoria Table Tennis Aces Rate in Canada's Top Five

Two Victoria table tennis stars have been placed among the top five players in Canada, according to the latest rankings recently released by the Canadian Table Tennis Association.

Nancy Craig, who won her eighth straight Victoria Table Tennis Association women's singles championship last night at the Club Sirocco, is ranked the third women player in the Dominion. Art Ngai, who successfully defended his club singles title last night, is the fifth-ranked men's player in Canada.

Gerald Addy of Vancouver, who has hooked up in some torrid duals with Ngai, is rated second.

Mrs. Craig downed Val Druce in winning the club championship, 21-15, 21-16, 23-21, while Art Ngai defeated brother Ed 21-11, 21-15, 21-12.

In the men's open doubles, Reg Dawson and Keith Olson took the measure of Dave Lowe and Nancy Craig in a five-set battle. Mrs. Craig, who partnered with Lowe because of the lack of male entries, more than held her own and the losing combination held a 20-12 lead in the final set before bowing out, 29-27.

C. Clarke won the senior men's singles title with a straight-set victory over Laurie Greenwood; J. Metcalf downed G. Smith in the novice singles; Wil Jay defeated G. Smith in the junior singles, and B. Hobbs downed R. Gough in the juvenile singles.

Young Harvey Hurd Wins In City Shuttle Tourney

Fourteen-year-old Harvey Hurd, who last year cleaned up city junior badminton singles championships in the under-14, under-16 and under-18 classes, last night crashed into the senior men's singles with a 15-4, 15-7 straight-sets victory over Bob MacMurchie in the first round of the city open badminton championships.

It was the only match in the opens last night. Nine more will be played tonight on the Amphion Street courts.

Tonight's draw:
7.15 p.m.—King and Tolmie vs. R. Horner and A. Cooke; J. Lee vs. F. Sheffield; R. Young vs. E. Hedley; J. Mangin vs. J. Crasker; G. Christopher vs. R. Hunt.

All Teams on First Card Of New Basketball League

Normal School will be the favorite when the newly-formed junior intercollegiate basketball league swings into action at the Oak Bay Junior High gym Friday night with all six teams seeing action.

Opening the card at 7 will be a clash between HMCS Venture and Normal School's second squad, followed an hour later by a battle between Normal School and Pedagogues. Victoria College Vikings and Royal Roads will provide the action in the final game at 9 p.m.

Several trial games to determine the strength of the various clubs were held in December and league officials are anticipating a close battle. However, Normal School's first team has the edge with a powerful lineup that includes Dave Williamson, Twitter Hill, Dave Worthy, Al Snowsell, Len Anderson, Barry Jackson, Winters and Bulatovich.

Victoria College will be led by guard Dave Price with Bill Oldham, Gary Corbett, Mike Partridge, Bill Harris and Glen Stewart also listed.

Pedagogues, composed of school teachers from the Greater Victoria area, will have Bill Reid, Gordon Hartley, Evan Oakley and Bruce Naylor. Little is known of the strength of the cadet teams from Royal Roads and Venture.

Five Canadiens Top NHL's Scoring List

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League's new issue of scoring records, released yesterday, starts out like the roll call of Montreal Canadiens.

The four Montrealers who have been monopolizing the top positions since the official weekly issue of November 8 ... edged last week by left-winger Bert Olmstead.

With five now leading the parade, all that is needed to make a complete team is to toss in goalie Jacques Plante, who was almost becoming the forgotten goalie of the league. But on an individual basis, the gangling Montreal netminder's average is best.

MISSED 18 GAMES

A fractured cheek bone shelved Plante for 18 of his team's 42 games. In those 18 games his three substitutes allowed 47 goals, a goals-against average of 2.61. Plante's average for 24 games is 1.58, which means the opposition scored a goal a game more against Canadiens during Plante's absence.

For purposes of the Vezina Trophy, Plante faces a terrific task if he is to overhaul big Harry Lumley of Toronto Leafs. The trophy, along with $1,000, goes to the goalie who has played the most games with the team least scored upon.

Lumley has missed only one game and his goals-against average is 1.71; his personal average is 1.72. Terry Sawchuk, who has played in all of Detroit Red Wings' games, has a 1.97 average.

FAMILIAR STARS

At the front of the scoring procession are the familiar names—Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Maurice (Rocket) Richard. Fourth place had been held by Ken Mosdell until Olmstead bounced in ahead of him last week with a collection of seven assists.

Olmstead's outburst also halted the climb of Gordie Howe of Detroit, who missed six games through injury and is trying to fight his way back to the scoring title he won the last four seasons.

Leaves Alouettes

TEX COULTER
Former all-America tackle with Army and voted the most valuable lineman in the Big Four Football Union last season, Tex Coulter has signed a 1955 contract with New York Giants of the U.S. pro league and won't be back with Montreal Alouettes. Als have also lost Alex Webster to Giants and club officials said Tuesday that tackle Jim Staton isn't expected back in 1955.

GIs Gain by Losing on Tokyo Mat Cards

BY RAY FALK

TOKYO (NANA)—American wrestlers in Japan get paid to lose. Like the Christians in the catacombs, they are thrown to the boos and jeers of the crowd by the promoters. But the GI's don't mind. There's cash in coming out second best.

Professional wrestling, a new form of entertainment in Japan, somersaulted to the top of the TV ratings in 1954.

But Japan is short on American-style wrestlers, and to give the contests an international flavor amateur wrestlers among the U.S. armed forces stationed in Japan and among American business men are recruited. These are sacrificed in the preliminaries. In the main events against such big stateside names as the Sharpe brothers, Hans Schnaubel and Lou Newman, the Japanese stars usually get their shoulders pinned to the mat.

Among the Americans is an air force major who wrassles under the name of "Killer Olson." A successful business man with a split personality concludes million-yen deals in the daytime and wrestles at night as "The Gorilla." The Americans trot around the ring for the fun of the exercise and for the cash—$50 to $100 a match.

Japanese fans, conservative by nature, lose all self-restraint at ringside. Their participation, like a wave of noise, splashes through the stadium when the Japanese wrestlers go on the offensive. The crowd goes wild, standing, shouting and waving when the two adversaries switch from gymnastics to antics and buffoonery. Then there are yells of fear and anguish when Killer Olson rubs his Japanese opponent's eyes along the ropes. When Americans violate the rules and nevertheless get the decision, fans have been known to throw cushions and bottles into the ring.

LADIES LOVE RIKI

Wrestling is one occasion when Japanese women come out from behind their fans to laugh and yell. They clap their hands and shout their favorite's name in ecstasy. When Rikidozan (Mr. Iron Mountain), the undisputed Japanese champion, steps into the ring, the ladies set up a chorus of "Rikichan Rikichan"—"Darling Riki." In that sense Japanese women are as democratized as their American sisters.

The American wrestlers imported from across the Pacific have a bigger bag of tricks and their showmanship is far superior. But the Japanese are learning fast. They continue to wear impassive masks on their faces while the Americans stick to their grunting and groaning.

The stadiums become so oppressively hot that between periods seconds have to fan the gladiators. The referee is often carried away by the excitement and forgetting his native tongue, counts a man out in English.

OUT FOR BLOOD

The Japanese are just waking up to the fact that professional wrestling is a show, not a sport, and that matches are fixed. Kimura, a judo expert turned wrestler, challenged Riki to a match for the Japan title. Rikidozan accepted, and in 16 minutes of the scheduled 61-minute match he bloodied Kimura so badly that the attending doctor stopped the match. This may become the breaking point of Japanese professional wrestling. Henceforth showmanship may be replaced by bloodshed. If so, the Japanese will have to find themselves a new group of American sacrificial wrestlers.

President of Lions Opposes Prairie Aid

VANCOUVER (CP) — Don Mackenzie, re-elected Monday night as president of the B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, says he is opposed to sharing gate receipts with Prairie teams.

Replying to a question from the floor at the annual meeting of the B.C. club attended by about 500 members, Mackenzie said the executive had never seriously considered the question of split gate receipts.

He said he felt such a plan would take away the incentive from fund-raising groups and booster clubs sponsoring entries from Calgary, Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton.

MIGHT BE ESSENTIAL

A member challenged the opinion and said Mackenzie might see the day when subsidies to other WIFU teams might be necessary if Vancouver were to continue in professional football.

Lions have an agreement now whereby $12,500 is set aside against the possibility of Prairie teams losing money when making the long trip to Vancouver. Mackenzie said he had heard rumors the Saskatchewan Roughriders lost money over the balance of the season and might request financial assistance.

COACH CONFIDENT

Coach Annis Stukus, who has been signed to his second term as coach of the Lions said, "I've proved I know a little about selling and spreading the gospel of football ... I hope to prove this year I know a little about coaching football."

He said the Lions were going to get players they need this year, not the ones they can afford, although he maintained lack of reputation and not money cost the Lions players last year.

In their first year in the WIFU, Lions won a single game while dropping 17, including two exhibition contests but set a one-game attendance record.

Stukus said he noticed a change in the attitude of American players this year and the B.C. club had found a ready audience of players.

Sailors, Garrison Win Hoop Openers

Navy and Esquimalt Garrison got away to a good start in the recently-formed five-team tri-service basketball league at HMCS Naden last week end by chalking up two victories each.

The Esquimalt Sailors downed an RCAF team from Sea Island, 64-50, and followed up with a 49-40 victory over RCSME from Chilliwack. Esquimalt Garrison downed RCSME, 36-23, and scored a 79-22 decision over Sea Island.

Comox RCAF, the other team in the circuit, will make its debut this week end when it meets Navy and Esquimalt Garrison Saturday and Sunday at HMCS Naden.

The teams will play a round-robin, home-and-home series with the top three teams entering the playoffs.

Olson Plans To Watch Challengers

NEW YORK (UP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson will be at the ringside in Cleveland Wednesday night when two prominent contenders for his crown, Rocky Castellani and Holly Mims, fight in a TV 10-rounder that highlights this week's boxing.

Odd-makers quoted even money yesterday on the significant bout between Castellani of Cleveland, second-ranking contender, and Mims of Washington, D.C.

Mims might be the next challenger if he beats Castellani, who lost a title decision to Olson in San Francisco last August. Mims' chances for the shot would be good because top contender Joey Giardello of Philadelphia is still recovering from a knee operation.

Columbus has returned to organized baseball with the purchase of the Ottawa franchise in the International League.

Playoffs Set In Okanagan

KELOWNA (CP)—A starting date of February 12 for the Okanagan Senior Hockey League playoffs was announced here Sunday by league officials.

Only three teams will be taking part—Vernon, Kelowna and Kamloops. Penticton V's, defending champions, leave next month for Europe in quest of the world hockey title.

Each of the three teams will be guaranteed four home games and the elimination contest will be based on a point system.

Vic Seixas, the U.S. champion from Philadelphia, Saturday won the South Australian tennis title by defeating Sweden's Lennart Bergelin, 6-3, 7-5, 8-6.

Rookies Show Off Talents In Winter Proving Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—The bright young rookies of the class of '55 already are stealing the headlines in the Caribbean winter baseball leagues.

Men like New York Yankees' Elston Howard, St. Louis Cards' Ken Boyer and Bill Virdon, Pittsburgh's Bob Clemente and Brooklyn's Chico Fernandez have been attracting raves from the scouting brigade.

Howard, most valuable player last season in the International League with pennant-winning Toronto, where he hit .331, went to San Juan of the Puerto Rican League as a catcher. He was changed over from an outfielder last spring.

In Puerto Rico, Howard is back playing right field, and batting about .340 at latest reports, according to the Yank office. Monday night his two-run homer won a game for San Juan over Ponce, beating Chicago Cubs' Dave Cole.

The Cards' trade of Ray Jablonski to Cincinnati left the third base job wide open for Boyer who batted .319 at Houston last summer. Playing for Havana in the Cuba League, Boyer has been batting about .300 and playing a solid third base. Centrefielder Bill Virdon, acquired by St. Louis last year in the deal that brought Enos Slaughter to the Yankees, was hitting .331 at last look in Havana.

BEHIND MAYS

Clemente, the No. 1 draft by Pittsburgh from Brooklyn's Montreal farm, has been giving Willie Mays, New York Giants' ace, a battle for the batting crown in Puerto Rico, hitting about .356. Both are with the Santurce team. Willie is hitting close to .390.

Santurce is loaded with major league talent. Bob Thurman, outfielder-pitcher who gets a shot with Cincinnati, is hitting about .360. Sam Jones, former Cleveland pitcher now back with the Cubs, has an 11-4 record and the Giants' Ruben Gomez is 10-3.

Brooklyn's highly-touted shortstop Chico Fernandez, boomed as the sure-fire successor to Peewee Reese, is hitting better than .300 for Cienfuegos of the Cuban League.

Many Friends Rally To Aid Fire Victims

ALBERNI—Neighbors, friends and strangers have helped to give a Beaver Creek couple a new start after destruction of their home by fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kyle, whose house was destroyed December 22, are now living in a rented home and hope to start rebuilding near the site of the fire within a few months.

Help has come from many sources. Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Forbes canvassed neighbors in the Beaver Creek area. A shoe store gave shoes for Sharon Kyle, 3, and Brian eight months. Alberni District Co-Operative gave a merchandise voucher and the ratepayers' association gave monetary aid.

A collection was taken among Mr. Kyle's fellow employees at Alberni Plywoods, to which the management and the plant's social services fund contributed.

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle have expressed deep gratitude for the help.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Arthur S. Lightfoot of Alert Bay has been appointed hospital administrator for the new 60-bed hospital which is to be built at Campbell River.

Mr. Lightfoot, 32 years old and the father of four children, was attached for six years to the Nanaimo General Hospital as assistant administrator and for the past three years has been administrator of St. George's Hospital at Alert Bay.

He will take up his duties in April or May, advising the hospital board on the plans for the new hospital.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI — A. D. McGillivray, B.C. Power Commission local manager, charged the city public works department with carelessness in a letter to city council.

Council agreed to his request that the city pay $2,127 to cover the cost of damage to power lines when a tree was felled December 21 by a city crew.

Crosswalks Rejected

LADYSMITH — Chief reason for rejection of pedestrian crosswalk signs by the public works department is that they give a false sense of security, the chamber of commerce has been informed by the district engineer.

In built-up areas, he said, there is "no warrant for them. There could be no end to such requests."

The chamber had asked for signs at First Avenue and High Street, Buller Street and Roberts Street intersections.

John Clarkson, chairman of the "light up for Christmas" committee, reported this year's results had been encouraging.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI—Alberni District Civic Workers' Union will be notified that the city council wishes to reopen the agreement with which the workers apparently are satisfied.

Aldermen wish merely to clarify certain ambiguities in the contract, they indicated. The union has offered to accept the contract without change.

* * *

LADYSMITH—Dr. H. W. Lewis found in a coroner's inquiry Monday that William France, 75, had died of natural causes.

RCMP found Mr. France dead in his bed after it was reported that he had not been seen for several days. He was a coal miner in the early years and later acted as a hotel caretaker.

* * *

CAMPBELL RIVER—Jack W. Baikie was re-elected chairman of the village commissioners at a meeting Monday.

Finance committee will be Mr. Baikie, Sidney Waterfield, Charles Granholm, John Lambie and Carl O. Thulin. Other committees will be: public works, Granholm, Thulin and Waterfield; water and street lighting, Thulin, Baikie and Waterfield; health and welfare, Lambie and Granholm; library, Lambie; parks board, Lambie and Thulin; wharf, Granholm and Baikie; Campbell River Recreational Association, Lambie; hospital board, Lambie.

Ambulance Still Homeless

PORT ALBERNI — City council efforts to find a home for the district's new ambulance met a snag when a letter was received from RCMP Insp. G. R. Engel saying the vehicle should not be housed in the police office garage.

Inspector Engel said the garage is being used to store equipment and the ambulance driver would have to go through the detachment office to reach the garage, which likely would be inconvenient.

Council will write another letter to RCMP division headquarters arguing that these difficulties probably could be overcome.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI—Council has approved sale of property adjacent to the site of the main substation to the B.C. Power Commission.

The area requested has a 100-foot frontage on Stamp Avenue and a dept of 159 feet. It will be sold at the assessed value.

PORT ALBERNI—A decision on the 1955 contract offered by the RCMP for policing the city was deferred by council for one week.

Same terms as those of last year were offered by the RCMP, but council members agreed not to make a decision until final figures on last year's costs are received.

Fourth quarterly reports on mileage, prisoners' meals and other items chargeable to the city are expected to be available within the week.

PORT ALBERNI — First person named in each standing committee of the Port Alberni council will act as chairman, council decided Monday night.

Mayor Loran Jordon departed from tradition when he announced that this year each committee would choose its own chairman, but the traditional results were achieved when council accepted a motion recommended by the committee of the whole.

NANAIMO—Funeral of Orville Renolds Akenhead, killed in a car accident at Bear Creek Sunday, will be held today at 2 p.m. from St. Andrew's United Church with Rev. Robert Moses officiating.

Mr. Akenhead was part owner of the Eagle Taxi Company and a veteran of the last war. He was a Mason and a member of the Eagles Lodge, and was a drummer in the Nanaimo District Pipe Band.

Untidy Youth Sent for Haircut

NANAIMO—A 16-year-old boy charged with being drunk was too disheveled for Magistrate Lionel Beever-Potts in police court Tuesday.

The magistrate, who has refused to hear a case more than once when the accused has needed sprucing up, ordered the probation officer to take the boy to have his hair cut and get cleaned up.

Later, he sent the smarter-looking youth to Boys' Industrial School.

Expansion Project Adds Fuel to Dispute

The proposed $30,000,000 expansion of the MacMillan & Bloedel pulp plant at Port Alberni (see Page 11) may bring to a head a dispute over assessments which has been developing for some months.

The fight is over a 1945 agreement between Bloedel, Stewart and Welch, which built the pulp mill, and the Port Alberni council which fixed the assessment of the plant at $600,000 for improvements and $100,000 for the land. The actual replacement value of the pulp mill, it is estimated, is about $30,000,000.

INCREASE LIMITED

The agreement, which was later ratified by provincial statute, further provided that any expansion of the mill, no matter how big, could only boost the assessments by $100,000.

This means that the $30,000,000 addition will increase the assessments to $700,000.

Present taxes to Port Alberni are about $22,000 a year.

What further complicates the situation is the recent assessment equalization. While it increased the general assessments of other properties in Port Alberni it does not alter the fixed assessment on the pulp mill.

LOAD ON HOME OWNERS

Mayor Loran Jordon of Port Alberni contends that the assessment increase will load more taxes on home owners because there is no proportionate increase in the assessment of the pulp mill.

Government officials say the dispute is now a legal one—and that it may wind up in the courts.

Certain sections of the Municipal Act allows a municipality to make certain concessions to an industry located within its limits but it provides that any expansion shall be assessed at full value.

Handicapped Offered Aid

Questionnaires which may help gain employment for handicapped persons are now available to the more than 350 residents of Greater Victoria who are totally or partly disabled.

Fred Blakeney, president of the League of the Handicapped, has asked all persons affected to contact him at 2525 Empire Street or telephone 4-1537 so that they can obtain and fill out the forms.

"We get quite a number of employers enthused about hiring handicapped persons but often do not have enough information," Mr. Blakeney said.

All information will be kept strictly confidential, said Mr. Blakeney, who added, "We want to be of service to every handicapped person in the community."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H ®. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark

"Often in pain after meals"

says salesman who found quick relief

"When I'm short of time for meals on the road, I often end up grabbing a bite to eat on the run. No wonder meals gave me indigestion and heartburn! Another salesman told me to try Digestif Rennie Tablets. Now I suck a couple of Rennies after meals when needed, and they certainly are effective," writes Mr. D. H. Heron, Toronto, Ont.

When your stomach feels sour, upset and flatulent, suck a Digestif Rennie Tablet. Rennies neutralize the excess acid and quickly relieve heartburn and indigestion. Ask for Rennies, only 25c at druggists. 95-1

Ferry Long Delayed

Chamber Wants Action on Slip

DUNCAN—The Chamber of Commerce will ask the district engineer's office at New Westminster to speed the calling of tenders for construction of a ferry slip at Vesuvius Bay, Salt Spring Island.

The building of the slip is part of the work necessary for operation of the Crofton-Vesuvius Bay ferry, long delayed now.

George Whittaker, the chamber's public works chairman, reported work at a standstill at Crofton, although he said a diver and rig were there to spot submerged piles to be removed before a ferry slip is built.

CROSSING REMOVAL

The chamber will ask the federal government to remove two railway crossings on the Cowichan Lake road. The Duncan chamber and the Cowichan Lake chamber have been agitating for straightening of the road to eliminate the crossings.

Junior Chamber of Commerce delegates announced that a joint project of Island Jaycees will be the production of a movie for tourist attractions.

The chamber condemned the policy of Vancouver Island Coach Lines in closing its local bus depot for 1½ hours each day.

A request was received from the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association for a declaration of policy by the chamber on the operation of marketing boards.

NAVY TRAINING

Royal Navy submarine crews are trained in rescue drill at a 100-foot water tank, six yards wide, at Portsmouth.

Assessment Act Sickens Inspector

PORT ALBERNI — The Assessment Equalization Act and its ramifications have been blamed for putting William Fraser, the city building inspector, in hospital.

City council, on the suggestion of Ald. W. C. Hamilton, extended its sympathy to Mr. Fraser with the advice to stop worrying. Ald. Hamilton said worrying aggravated stomach ulcers and implied that if the city official could get his mind off the new assessment act, he might soon be back at work.

Broke Pub Windows, Fined

NANAIMO—Ormond Griffin was refused a drink at the beer parlor in the Cranberry Hotel at Cedar because he was intoxicated, Constable Colin Smith told Nanaimo police court.

Then, the constable said, Griffin smashed another man's glass of beer with an ashtray, was ejected and locked out, lost consciousness on the front step, and when he came to, smashed nine windows with his hands.

Griffin was fined $25 and costs for disturbing the peace and was ordered to pay $34 to replace broken windows.

Longer, Leaner Look for Spring

BY ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The "longer, leaner look" is what will be strong in the spring according to top American fashion designers. But they're promising [illegible] even though they're emphasizing curves.

Spring and summer clothes are being previewed this week for more than 200 fashion writers here to attend the National Press Week's sponsored by the exclusive group of the New York Dress Institute.

Designer Adele Simpson found the hemline rise not [illegible] to [illegible] inches in her spring dresses and suits. And revealed a new [illegible] basque silhouette that gives the [illegible] waisted look with [illegible] eliminating a belt at the waistline.

American women want to be comfortable, the designer explained.

The [illegible] basque [illegible] is [illegible] a gentle curve to [illegible] Adele said, and [illegible] accentuates the waist above the suppression of a long [illegible] of the 1930's.

[illegible] suits with longer jackets [illegible] suit the [illegible] theme for spring. Even when the jacket comes off, a soft [illegible] often made of a print to match the jacket lining, replaces the old tuxedo blouse for a longer look.

Designer Pauline Trigere is one who is leading the way to extra feminine appeal in clothes for daytime as well as evening. She calls it "the dainty look."

Miss Trigere has made day [illegible] wool dresses for spring in pale grey and golden beige trimmed with white. She shows a beige wool dress edged at neck and sleeves with white, for [illegible] with a white matter belt and a white hat.

Another [illegible] daytime dress is a soft green print wool with a white [illegible] stone. The [illegible] designer sees the [illegible] costume [illegible] after five [illegible]

She has made a [illegible] cloth wool coat [illegible] worn belted over a white [illegible] sheath evening dress. The dress is made with a full skirt that begins at a [illegible] seam, typical of many of the [illegible] party dresses for spring.

Cotton dresses have new [illegible] for spring. Miss [illegible] [illegible] to use water-proof prints [illegible] for sportswear dresses. Mme. Pauline has used chiffons in [illegible] for short evening dresses. Bright pink, vivid [illegible] and jade green are three of the Parisian colors for spring evenings.

Miss Pauline also features [illegible] costume, sometimes a [illegible] dress and long coat, and [illegible] with [illegible] and often a suit with a skirt [illegible] and a harmonizing overblouse.

[illegible] covered coats will [illegible] be [illegible] with heavy [illegible] Maurice Rentner [illegible] works for next spring. The [illegible] has made suits in [illegible] of [illegible] wool fabrics with [illegible] effect [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] and three-quarter [illegible] sleeves. Her [illegible] and [illegible] short-sleeved [illegible] print for summer [illegible] a grey and black print that [illegible] a dressy touch with the [illegible] fringed belt looped in the front.

Mrs. Beevers Re-elected IODE Regent

At the recent business meeting of Royal Roads Chapter, I.O.D.E., Mrs. G. Beevers was re-elected regent by acclamation. Mrs. J. C. F. Bowers, educational secretary, reported that parcels had been sent to the adopted school in December.

Mrs. A. McIntire made her [illegible] to the Veterans Hospital when she took the monthly gift to the Chapter's adopted patients and in addition a Christmas gift of [illegible] candy and cosmetics. The Christmas tea will be in charge of Mrs. W. McNeely.

The next sewing meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Cripps, 1849 Fairfield Road, January 19 at 8 p.m.

Club Honors Mrs. Cross

In recognition of her leadership during 1954, Mrs. Henry Cross, president of the Golden Age Club, was presented with a gift and corsage at a dinner held by the club at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Le June Hall on Monday. Rev. Dr. Foreman was guest speaker.

Following the dinner, Rev. D. MacKenzie entertained the assembled guests with moving pictures. A musical program directed by Mr. James Wright was enjoyed later.

Here's An Answer To Your Coughs of Colds Problem!
Here is a new, pleasant cough syrup that works quickly and effectively—and agrees even with a child's delicate stomach. It's new Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup. It medicates as it penetrates.
It's different! . . . a combination of a new penetrating ingredient with a medicating formula. The penetrating ingredient actually carries the medicine to irritated crevices of the throat where the medicating ingredient can go right to work. That's why it's named Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup. It medicates as it penetrates.
Works as effectively on children's as on adults' colds—and everybody likes the flavor. So, for relief of family coughs of colds, try new Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Parker (Mother of 5)

Ever wonder why baby puts most everything he can manage into that sweet, rose bud mouth? The expert tells us that the mouth is baby's first great teacher. With it he gets the first taste of one of the great pleasures of life—nourishing food. Next month it teaches him texture and shape. When little teeth make their debut, chewing is the first step in learning how to chew!

Safety first. You'll feel easier if you keep baby's [illegible] out of all easy-to-swallow objects. Practice, [illegible] baby's toys, small enough to [illegible] but too big to swallow, help keep baby mouth happy.

Strengthening subject. Meat, as [illegible] baby's [illegible] Strained Meats for tots with a few teeth.

Short cut to longer life for baby's clothes. A mother writes: "When Barbara outgrows her dresses, I simply cut off slightly and use them for sleeveless cotter little jumpers. They're charming."

Vitamin C . . . easy as 1-2-3. No squeezing, no straining to give baby the precious Vitamin C he needs every day. Gerber's Strained Orange Juice is specially processed for babies. It's made from tree-ripened oranges, selected for uniform Vitamin C content and the mild, fresh fruit flavor babies take to. Carefully pasteurized and [illegible] strained so it can be fed from bottle, cup or spoon.

Judge Rules Against Ash

Suit Won By Plaintiff

A three-year-civil suit involving the Victoria firm Polyplastics Ltd., was decided in favor of the plaintiff, Ivor H. Ash, in County Court Monday.

Mr. Ash had sued a partner, Lewis Hanson, for non-payment of shares and breach of contract. Mr. Hanson had launched a counter-suit of fraud.

Judge J. B. Clearihue said he felt sure Mr. Ash had stood by his warranty. He ordered Mr. Hanson to pay the plaintiff what he owed plus court costs. The counter-suit was dismissed.

ROOM TO PLAY

Sir Charles Reilly, British architect who died in 1948, was one of the early advocates of "play streets" for children.

Lion of Africa, Graziani, Dies

ROME (UP)—Former Italian Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, fascism's "Lion of Africa," died today at a Rome clinic.

Graziani, 72, had been ailing for several years.

An Italian military tribunal convicted Graziani in May, 1950, of treason charges and sentenced him to 19 years in prison, but his sentence was cut by amnesties to only 14 months.

Court Clerk Admits Thefts

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—Edwin C. Olson, 42-year-old court clerk, Monday pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $5,092 in court receipts and was remanded to January 24 for sentence.

He was released on $5,000 bail following his appearance in court before Magistrate F. C. Cornellie of Fort Frances.

J. McDonald Installed By Ladysmith Legion

LADYSMITH — Jack E. McDonald was installed as president of Branch 171 Canadian Legion at a ceremony here. Installing officer was immediate past-president Jack Thompson.

First and second vice-presidents are Clare Cowles and W. H. Slade. George P. Grant is secretary-treasurer; C. A. Ingram is sergeant-at-arms while the executive is Jack Thompson, Charles Lamberton, Vince Platt, Dr. J. W. Neville, Charles Roberts, W. H. McTaggart, Joe Grouhel, Sr., George Cathers, Walter Dow, William Brown and A. E. Russell.

President McDonald has called an executive meeting for Thursday at 7.30 p.m. in the memorial hall to appoint his committees.

Secretary Grant, touching on the highlights of the year, said the ladies' auxiliary had been a wonderful help. Besides assisting with social affairs they donated $600 worth of new chairs to the hall and gave $25 towards lighting expenses.

The branch has a balance of $400 in the general account and $375 in the Poppy Fund.

Red Hydro Plant World's Biggest

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said Monday night that the world's largest power station — the hydro-electric station at Kuibishev on the Volga—will be opened this year. Its scheduled annual output is 10,000,000,000 kilowatt hours.

Moscow radio said the joint power production of the two Volga stations of Kuibishev and Stalingrad will exceed that of Italy, Switzerland and Sweden taken together.

YOUR NERVES

are not made of STEEL
That's Why
THIS 6 WEEK NERVE FOOD PLAN MAY HELP YOU
Mother and Dad! Look at the strain and noise in an average day. The telephone jars you, the door-bell rings; meals to get, dishes to wash; a noisy office or a machine breaks down. By night your stomach is in knots, your appetite gone. You're human! YOUR NERVES ARE NOT MADE OF STEEL!
If YOU are Tired, Tense, Can't Rest
HERE'S YOUR 6 WEEK PLAN
Get 6 small or 2 large boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, a 6 week supply for one adult. In just 6 weeks it may mean NEW FORCE, NEW VIGOUR . . . the quiet, steady nerves that go with good health.
Here's Why—Nerve Food contains body-building elements found in Vitamin B1, Iron and other health-giving Minerals. Together they help strengthen your nerves, help you to rest, forget you were ever tired, run-down, feeling miserable. After 6 weeks you must be able to say: "I feel like a new person! . . . or money refunded—get started today. 79¢ and $1.98

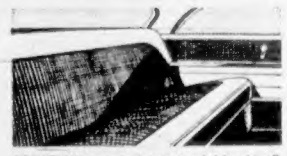
LONGEST-LOWEST-SMARTEST

Manufactured in Canada by Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited
The all-new '55 PLYMOUTH
Biggest of the low-priced 3 . . . excitingly new with Motion-Design styling for The Forward Look . . . powerful new V-8 and 6 engines!
V-8 or 6's
• PACKED WITH POWER—New 157-h.p. Hy-Fire V-8 is the most advanced engine in its field. Tops in efficiency for more "go" per gallon. Or, you may choose the new PowerFlow or PowerFlow Special engines, based on a design famous for thrift and reliability.
• THREE TRANSMISSIONS—Wide transmission choice—Synchro-Silent is standard equipment; PowerFlite automatic transmission or Overdrive are optional at extra cost.
• POWER ASSISTS—Make your driving as automatic as you wish, with Plymouth Full-Time Power Steering, Power Brakes, Power Windows, or Power Seats, available at extra cost.
Here's the car to measure against! Plymouth is more than ten inches longer this year . . . by far the longest of the three leading low-priced cars. Roomiest, too! Most over-all interior space, from instrument panel to rear seat back . . . most room in the luggage compartment.
Years ahead in style! Lowest and sleekest of all three. Longest hood . . . most massive grille . . . most impressive headlights, set deep in the rakish angle of the front fenders.
Built to stay young! When you compare all three for ruggedness and lasting value, consider that Plymouth weighs the most because it's built more solid, stronger. Many extra-value features such as widest rear springs, electric windshield wipers, independent parking brake.
Your Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo dealer invites you to compare all three. Because, if you do, chances are you'll change to Plymouth!

NEW VISIBILITY is yours through the New Horizon windshield with its rakish slant and swept-back corner posts. It's the first true wrap-around . . . gives you extra visibility at top corners, where you really need it, as well as at the bottom.

NEW CONVENIENCE with Flite-Control automatic transmission selector lever. Mounted on instrument panel where you can move it with a flick of your finger!


NEW STYLE is roomier interiors, upholstered in all-new, quality fabrics that surround you with delightful colour and texture. Two-tone hues on seats, doors, and instrument panel all harmonize perfectly with exterior body colours.
SEE YOUR CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH-FARGO DEALER FOR THE BEST VALUES OF THE YEAR!

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices closed narrowly lower following fairly active trade.

Good domestic buying interest showed in oats and barley. Americans bought barley but sold oats. Small parcels of barley were sold to the United Kingdom.

Trade reports also said 100,000 bushels of Canadian flax went to Japan while a small amount of rye was sold to the Continent.

Stores Swept To Sea

CORBONEAR, Nfld. (CP)—Whole waterfronts were wiped clean of wharves and buildings and in some spots stores were washed to sea in Newfoundland's worst storm in history.

Striking Sunday and raging most of Monday and Tuesday, the lashing, smashing seas sent water thundering 200 feet up steep cliffs and against the wharves and fishing stages.

Everywhere along the coast there were scenes of almost unbelieveable damage.

Some spots were still isolated Tuesday and damage reports are likely to keep trickling into St. John's for days to come.

FUEL UNDER WATER

A Canadian Press reporter who toured the fishing villages and outports of Conception Bay Tuesday saw the winter "coal supply of Charles Marshall lapped by still-angry seas and the building that housed it floating in countless pieces.

A mile down the road, Thomas Peckham's coal and shed disappeared the same way. Both men felt their homes move under the pressure of pounding waves.

Separating the two men was a 1,000-foot stretch of highway, loaded with rocks, sand, tin cans and timber.

A 40-foot stretch of the paved highway was torn into huge hunks and heaved like pebbles across nearby railway tracks.

In the centre of town, a warehouse at the rear of a supermarket was torn to bits by the seas which slapped against it most of the day. Only the roof and one side remain intact.

Fishing wharves, dories, equipment and buildings were smashed by the mountainous waves that swept hundreds of feet up rocky cliffs to bring to many fishermen the worst disaster in memory.

Caller Threatens McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police posted a guard about the home of Sen. Joseph McCarthy Tuesday after his next door neighbor reported she had received a telephoned warning that "we are going to blow up Joe McCarthy tonight."

Reporters talked to the neighbor, Mrs. George W. Ennis, after friends of McCarthy told of the phone call.

Mrs. Ennis' home adjoins McCarthy's in a row of houses joined together.

McCarthy said he believed the warning came from "some crackpot.

"I wouldn't imagine this is something serious or they wouldn't have called in advance to advertise their plan," he said.

Mrs. Ennis said the caller was "a man with a foreign sounding voice."

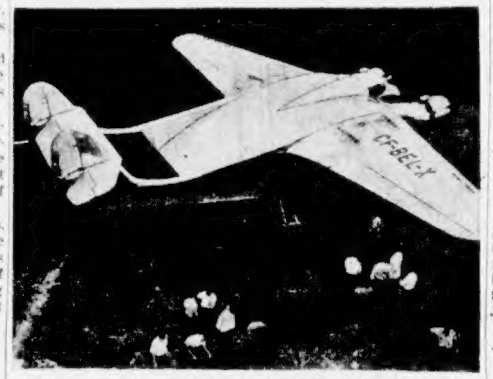
Set To Study North Pole

Scheduled to leave Teterboro, N.J., today for preliminary studies around Hudson Bay, these three people hope to land at the North Pole in March as part of an Arctic expedition. They are Miss Peggy Keenan, Dr. Paul Seydell, left, and John F. Stanwell-Fletcher, commander and sponsor, a former RCMP officer in the north.



This unusual experimental plane has been chosen to land the main party of the expedition at the North Pole. On board will be 20 expedition members and 41 dogs. The plane can take off or land in only 1,500 feet. The expedition hopes to perfect an instrument that can gauge the thickness of Arctic ice and determine its suitability for plane landings.

More Jobs Needed

All Parties Praise Jobless Aid Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—All parties in the Commons Tuesday commended a government-proposed boost in supplementary winter unemployment insurance, but opposition speakers said the government has not gone far enough or fast enough in fighting unemployment.

By unanimous agreement, the House interrupted formalities of the throne speech for its introduction. The government is hopeful of adoption later this week. In that case, its provisions would become effective from the start of the week.

These provisions are:

1. Increasing the supplementary benefit payments to equality with regular benefits. The supplementaries paid between January 1 and April 15—to those whose normal benefits have expired now run to between 67 and 81 per cent of normal.

2. A minimum 60 days of supplementary benefits a year. Minimums in different categories now vary from 18 days upwards.

GREGG EXPLAINS

In presenting the bill, Labor Minister Gregg said that on the basis of last winter's unemployment supplementary insurance would cost $22,000,000 annually compared with $12,000,000 a year ago. The money will come from the insurance fund.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West), labor specialist for her party, said she welcomes the bill but it should have been considered at a 1954 fall sitting of Parliament.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver-Kingsway) said the bill is "most welcome" but will fail to relieve the situation to any considerable extent. Unemployment insurance was not a cure for unemployment.

He suggested that $100,000,000 be used from the unemployment fund for works to create jobs.

CITES LOGGERS

Thomas Barnett (CCF-Comox-Alberni) said the government should do more to meet the increasing unemployment difficulties of British Columbia loggers who suffered enforced layoffs during the summer fire months as well as the winter months.

Colin Cameron (CCF-Nanaimo) said the insurance measure is like an aspirin administered for a headache; it does not cure.

"It is a Micawber-like measure," he said. "Unemployment insurance is being extended in the hope that something will turn up."

War Would Finish Britain 'in 32 Hours'

HARLESTON, England (CP)—Aneurin Bevan said here Tuesday night that Britain would last only 32 hours if a major war broke out.

This is the view of scientists "with every circumstantiation to prove it," the leader of the left wing of the Labor party said. "War between nations is no longer a matter of policy but an act of suicide."

There is only one way to find out if Russian invitations for a high-level meeting are serious, he said in a speech, and that is to respond to them.

Ontario May Impose Tolls

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government is considering toll highways as the only way to finance a demand for controlled-access highways, it was reported Tuesday night.

Invaders Near Capital

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Costa Rica said Tuesday airborne armed forces have seized several north Costa Rica towns and advanced on a direct invasion route to this capital city.

The government later charged "active aggression" on the part of Nicaragua, and said it expects "to receive military aid" from western hemisphere nations to "repel forces of invasion."

Costa Rica's available armed manpower was quickly mobilized. A break in relations between Costa Rica and neighboring Nicaraugua appeared imminent.

Nicaragua countered that Costa Rica's charges were foolish.

TOWN SEIZED

Costa Rican President Jose Figueres said Villa Quesada, a town of 3,500 about 40 miles this side of the Nicaraguan frontier, was seized Tuesday morning by a force that landed there in light planes. This was the first reported incident.

Maj. Roberto Fernandez of the headquarters staff of the civil guard, said a detachment sent from San Jose made contact with the rebel group.

He said an observation plane sent over the area returned bearing bullet holes and reported scattered small-arms fire. There was no estimate of the size of the force at Villa Quesada.

50 REBELS

Reuters correspondent Terence Stocken reported Costa Rican forces were attempting to surround about 50 airborne rebels who seized Villa Quesada.

Stocken said the Costa Rican government also is using DC-3 airliners to bomb and strafe the rebels, who are reported to be building an airstrip as a springboard for air attacks on San Jose, the Costa Rican capital.

Hearing Date Set By Sloan

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan will open a royal commission on B.C.'s forest industry in Victoria February 21, he announced last night.

The survey is expected to take at least a year.

He undertook a survey of the forestry situation in 1945, when he recommended a further review in not more than 10 years.

Chief Justice Sloan will act as a one-man commission. He has been given a free hand to call witnesses and hire counsel and other administrative assistance.

The provincial cabinet has set out a 13-point list of suggested subjects for the survey, making it clear they are inclusive "but not limiting" in any way.

Government Asks:

Did Firm Entertain Federal Officials?

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will investigate whether any federal officials were entertained in a private country residence by a company seeking construction contracts.

A recent ruling of the income tax appeal board disclosed that an unnamed firm entertained public officials in a summer residence.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday in the Commons he will try to find out what was said at the closed hearing of the case and secondly if officials of the government were entertained.

He said he was "very much surprised" by the disclosure in the board's decision, issued Saturday.

The judgment, signed by board member W. S. Fisher, said the company claimed deduction of $27,789 from its 1951 taxable income for alterations to the summer home "where officials and officers of the various government bodies could be entertained prior to negotiations of government contracts."

The governments or officials were not identified. The name of the company also was withheld because it had asked that the hearing of its appeal be held in private.

The board's judgment did not locate the property, but it is understood it was in Quebec province.

Claims Hair Record

Longest hair in Canada is believed to be that of Shirley Thomas, 15-year-old daughter of Ontario's agriculture minister. Shirley's hair, 41½ inches long, has never been cut although the ends have been trimmed. It is still growing. Shirley's cat is long-haired too.

Crew Sticking To Holed Ship

HALIFAX (CP) — Crew members of the leaking British freighter La Orilla stuck to their ship in the stormy North Atlantic Tuesday night as another craft stood by to give aid if needed.

Gales and giant seas punched a hole through the underwater plates of the 7,000-ton La Orilla and water poured in.

Her master, Capt. T. L. Bradford, reported in a succession of succinct messages that his ship was hove to, taking water in the No. 2 hold and was starting to list.

He made no mention of abandoning ship.

The Israeli freighter Tel Aviv sped to the scene and Marine radio here said she was standing by.

The United States coast guard cutter Bluejacket also sped from her base at Argentia, Nfld., and the salvage tug Foundation Josephine II sailed from Halifax.

SHIFT IN CARGO

At last reports the La Orilla had a 12-degree list and there was a danger her cargo would start to shift. She carries 36 crew members.

Capt. Bradford's first message reported a 12-degree list and said he would try to return to Halifax. Two hours later he said he was steaming in a northwesterly direction toward port and there was no change in the degree of list.

The La Orilla, owned by Buries Marks Ltd., of London, sailed from Halifax with a general cargo loaded at Saint John, N.B., and Halifax.

The storm that crippled her was the same one that has thundered against the Newfoundland coast for three days.

Limit Set On RCMP Territory

BY TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — As an economy measure, the federal government has instructed the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to decline any new commitments for the policing of municipalities or provinces, Justice Minister Stuart Garson said Tuesday.

The RCMP polices all provinces except Ontario and Quebec. In B.C. and other provinces it polices a total of 125 municipalities.

The costs of policing borne by the municipalities are about 40 per cent of the cost of the force. Municipalities pay annually approximately $2,000 for each member of the force assigned to them, officials said.

With the federal treasury board having decided to hold new government spending to a minimum, it has been decided to halt any increase in policing services.

No reduction in the force is contemplated and there will be no termination of existing commitments. When a province or municipality decides it wants to renew its existing commitments, this will be done.

Scores Leap As Fire Hits Huge Planes

U.S. Paratroops Bail Out Safely

DENVER, Colo. (CP) — Seventy-two United States paratroopers on their way to manoeuvres in Alaska parachuted to safety Tuesday in two separate air accidents involving huge C-119 Flying Boxcars. The pilot of one plane was killed.

The men were part of a 3,000-strong paratroop force being flown from Kentucky to Alaska—a 4,300-mile flight with Edmonton one of the main stops. One hundred planes were involved in the operation.

Thirty-four paratroopers and three crew members parachuted to safety when their C-119 crashed and burned after takeoff from Sewart air force base in Tennessee.

Two airmen were reported missing.

The pilot, who held his crippled plane on a straight course for the emergency bail-out, was reported to have stayed with the plane as it plummeted to earth moments later.

One paratrooper was admitted to the base hospital with minor injuries.

FORCED LANDING

The paratroopers aboard were members of the 503rd Airborne Infantry Regiment from Fort Campbell, Ky., the same outfit involved when 33 soldiers parachuted to safety as their plane made a forced landing near Miles City, Mont., earlier in the day.

Lieut. James Reynolds, Melbourne, Fla., platoon leader of the infantrymen aboard, gave this account of the bail-out:

"We had just climbed above the overcast when the crew chief came out of the cockpit and told us to get ready to jump. Then he went back into the cockpit a minute, came out and said, 'Bail out! An engine is on fire; we're feathering the props'."

He said the men, who apparently thought it was a drill at first, followed briefing instructions exactly and barely 30 seconds later the passenger compartment of the huge plane was empty.

ATOP TREES, CAR

The troopers floated down in near-freezing weather over an area more than three miles across, some landing in trees, one atop a parked car and many near the administration building on the base.

At Miles City 35 paratroopers got a head start on operation Snowbird Tuesday when a flaming engine forced them to jump into pre-dawn near-zero darkness near here.

If they had made their jump a few seconds earlier they would have made a mass drop right on the southeastern Montana city.

As it was, some early risers were so amazed to see the armed force of sub-arctic-bound parka-clad paratroopers in full battle dress they professed fears Miles City had been invaded and a third world war was on.

'Can't Handle Big Affairs'

Tory Raps Socreds For Gas 'Bungling'

REGINA (CP)—Alvin Hamilton, leader of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative party charged Tuesday night that the entire future of western Canada natural gas development is in jeopardy because of "bungling" by Alberta's Social Credit government.

Mr. Hamilton, in a radio broadcast said it appears the Alberta government does not know how to handle big affairs.

Rising prosperity has created the idea the Alberta government was a good government.

"But now that big decisions are to be made they are making ruinous blunders that affect Saskatchewan as well as Alberta," Mr. Hamilton said.

LOST MARKET

Alberta's refusal for many months to permit export of gas lost much of the market in the northwest United States to Canadian natural gas, he said.

"Now their latest bungle is the uneconomic method of gathering gas in Alberta. The semi-private-public company set up to collect gas for the trans-Canada pipe line has loaded the producers with extra costs."

As a result, several producers had refused to sell gas for the suggested figure, placing the entire gas development program in jeopardy. A slow-down now in oil and gas development would mean all citizens of Saskatchewan would suffer.

These Britain-Based Planes Can Carry the A-Bomb

Here is an impressive view of NATO air might. In the line-up, as far as the eye can see, are U.S. Tornado jet bombers, capable of dropping the A-bomb. The 400-mph jets were arrayed at Sculthorpe, atom-bomb base at Norfolk, England.—(Central Press Canadian.)

Starting To List

Crew Sticking To Holed Ship

HALIFAX (CP) — Crew members of the leaking British freighter La Orilla stuck to their ship in the stormy North Atlantic Tuesday night as another craft stood by to give aid if needed.

Gales and giant seas punched a hole through the underwater plates of the 7,000-ton La Orilla and water poured in.

Her master, Capt. T. L. Bradford, reported in a succession of succinct messages that his ship was hove to, taking water in the No. 2 hold and was starting to list.

He made no mention of abandoning ship.

The Israeli freighter Tel Aviv sped to the scene and Marine radio here said she was standing by.

The United States coast guard cutter Bluejacket also sped from her base at Argentia, Nfld., and the salvage tug Foundation Josephine II sailed from Halifax.

At last reports the La Orilla had a 12-degree list and there was a danger her cargo would start to shift. She carries 36 crew members.

Capt. Bradford's first message reported a 12-degree list and said he would try to return to Halifax. Two hours later he said he was steaming in a northwesterly direction toward port and there was no change in the degree of list.

The La Orilla, owned by Buries Marks Ltd., of London, sailed from Halifax with a general cargo loaded at Saint John, N.B., and Halifax.

The storm that crippled her was the same one that has thundered against the Newfoundland coast for three days.

Claims Hair Record

Longest hair in Canada is believed to be that of Shirley Thomas, 15-year-old daughter of Ontario's agriculture minister. Shirley's hair, 41½ inches long, has never been cut although the ends have been trimmed. It is still growing. Shirley's cat is long-haired too.

Soldiers Bail Out

One Dead, Two Missing In U.S. Airlift Mishaps

DENVER, Colo. (CP) — Seventy-two United States paratroopers on their way to manoeuvres in Alaska parachuted to safety Tuesday in two separate air accidents involving huge C-119 Flying Boxcars. The pilot of one plane was killed.

The men were part of a 3,000-strong paratroop force being flown from Kentucky to Alaska—a 4,300-mile flight—with Edmonton one of the main stops. One hundred planes were involved in the operation.

Thirty-four paratroopers and three crew members parachuted to safety when their C-119 crashed and burned after take-off from Sewart air force base in Tennessee.

Two airmen were reported missing.

The pilot, who held his crippled plane on a straight course for the emergency bail-out, was reported to have stayed with the plane as it plummeted to earth moments later.

One paratrooper was admitted to the base hospital with minor injuries.

The paratroopers aboard were members of the 503rd Airborne Infantry Regiment from Fort Campbell, Ky., the same outfit involved when 33 soldiers parachuted to safety as their plane made a forced landing near Miles City, Mont., earlier in the day.

Lieut. James Reynolds, Melbourne, Fla., platoon leader of the infantrymen aboard, gave this account of the bail-out:

"We had just climbed above the overcast when the crew chief came out of the cockpit and told us to get ready to jump. Then he went back into the cockpit a minute, came out and said, 'Bail out! An engine is on fire; we're feathering the props'."

He said the men, who apparently thought it was a drill at first, followed briefing instructions exactly and barely 30 seconds later the passenger compartment of the huge plane was empty.

ATOP TREES, CAR

The troopers floated down in near-freezing weather over an area more than three miles across, some landing in trees, one atop a parked car and many near the administration building on the base.

At Miles City 35 paratroopers got a head start on operation Snowbird Tuesday when a flaming engine forced them to jump into pre-dawn near-zero darkness near here.

If they had made their jump a few seconds earlier they would have made a mass drop right on the southeastern Montana city.

As it was, some early risers were so amazed to see the armed force of sub-arctic-bound parka-clad paratroopers in full battle dress they professed fears Miles City had been invaded and a third world war was on.

'Can't Handle Big Affairs'

Tory Raps Socreds For Gas 'Bungling'

REGINA (CP)—Alvin Hamilton, leader of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative party charged Tuesday night that the entire future of western Canada natural gas development is in jeopardy because of "bungling" by Alberta's Social Credit government.

Mr. Hamilton, in a radio broadcast said it appears the Alberta government does not know how to handle big affairs.

Rising prosperity has created the idea the Alberta government was a good government.

"But now that big decisions are to be made they are making ruinous blunders that affect Saskatchewan as well as Alberta," Mr. Hamilton said.

LOST MARKET

Alberta's refusal for many months to permit export of gas lost much of the market in the northwest United States to Canadian natural gas, he said.

"Now their latest bungle is the uneconomic method of gathering gas in Alberta. The semi-private-public company set up to collect gas for the trans-Canada pipe line has loaded the producers with extra costs."

As a result, several producers had refused to sell gas for the suggested figure, placing the entire gas development program in jeopardy. A slow-down now in oil and gas development would mean all citizens of Saskatchewan would suffer.

But More Jobs Needed

Jobless Aid Boost Praised; May Be Effective Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—All parties in the Commons Tuesday commended a government-proposed boost in supplementary winter unemployment insurance, but opposition speakers said the government has not gone far enough or fast enough in fighting unemployment.

By unanimous agreement, the House interrupted formalities of the throne speech for its introduction. The government is hopeful of adoption later this week. In that case, its provisions would become effective from the start of the week.

These provisions are:

1. Increasing the supplementary benefit payments to equality with regular benefits. The supplementaries—paid between January 1 and April 15—to those whose normal benefits have expired now run to between 67 and 81 per cent of normal.

2. A minimum 60 days of supplementary benefits a year. Minimums in different categories now vary from 18 days upwards.

GREGG EXPLAINS

In presenting the bill, Labor Minister Gregg said that on the basis of last winter's unemployment supplementary insurance would cost $22,000,000 annually compared with $12,000,000 a year ago. The money will come from the insurance fund.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West), labor specialist for her party, said she welcomes the bill but it should have been considered at a 1954 fall sitting of Parliament.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver-Kingsway) said the bill is "most welcome" but will fail to relieve the situation to any considerable extent. Unemployment insurance was not a cure for unemployment.

He suggested that $100,000,000 be used from the unemployment fund for works to create jobs.

CITES LOGGERS

Thomas Barnett (CCF-Comox-Alberni) said the government should do more to meet the increasing unemployment difficulties of British Columbia loggers who suffered enforced layoffs during the summer fire months as well as the winter months.

Colin Cameron (CCF-Nanaimo) said the insurance measure is like an aspirin administered for a headache; it does not cure.

"It is a Micawber-like measure," he said. "Unemployment insurance is being extended in the hope that something will turn up."

Invaders Near Capital

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Costa Rica said Tuesday airborne armed forces have seized several north Costa Rica towns and advanced on a direct invasion route to this capital city.

The government later charged "active aggression" on the part of Nicaragua, and said it expects "to receive military aid" from western hemisphere nations to "repel forces of invasion."

Costa Rica's available armed manpower was quickly mobilized. A break in relations between Costa Rica and neighboring Nicaraugua appeared imminent.

Nicaragua countered that Costa Rica's charges were foolish.

Costa Rican President Jose Figueres said Villa Quesada, a town of 3,500 about 40 miles this side of the Nicaraguan frontier, was seized Tuesday morning by a force that landed there in light planes. This was the first reported incident.

Maj. Roberto Fernandez of the headquarters staff of the civil guard, said a detachment sent from San Jose made contact with the rebel group.

He said an observation plane sent over the area returned bearing bullet holes and reported scattered small-arms fire. There was no estimate of the size of the force at Villa Quesada.

Reuters correspondent Terence Stocken reported Costa Rican forces were attempting to surround about 50 airborne rebels who seized Villa Quesada.

Stocken said the Costa Rican government also is using DC-3 airliners to bomb and strafe the rebels, who are reported to be building an airstrip as a springboard for air attacks on San Jose, the Costa Rican capital.

Government Asks:

Did Firm Entertain Federal Officials?

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will investigate whether any federal officials were entertained in a private country residence by a company seeking construction contracts.

A recent ruling of the income tax appeal board disclosed that an unnamed firm entertained public officials in a summer residence.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday in the Commons he will try to find out what was said at the closed hearing of the case and secondly if officials of the government were entertained.

He said he was "very much surprised" by the disclosure in the board's decision, issued Saturday.

The judgment, signed by board member W. S. Fisher, said the company claimed deduction of $27,789 from its 1951 taxable income for alterations to the summer home "where officials and officers of the various government bodies could be entertained prior to negotiations of government contracts."

The governments or officials were not identified. The name of the company also was withheld because it had asked that the hearing of its appeal be held in private.

The board's judgment did not locate the property, but it is understood it was in Quebec province.

Hearing Date Set By Sloan

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan will open a royal commission on B.C.'s forest industry in Victoria February 21, he announced last night.

The survey is expected to take at least a year.

He undertook a survey of the forestry situation in 1945, when he recommended a further review in not more than 10 years.

Chief Justice Sloan will act as a one-man commission. He has been given a free hand to call witnesses and hire counsel and other administrative assistance.

The provincial cabinet has set out a 13-point list of suggested subjects for the survey, making it clear they are inclusive "but not limiting" in any way.

War Would Finish Britain 'in 32 Hours'

HARLESTON, England (CP)—Aneurin Bevan said here Tuesday night that Britain would last only 32 hours if a major war broke out.

This is the view of scientists "with every circumstantiation to prove it," the leader of the left wing of the Labor party said. "War between nations is no longer a matter of policy but an act of suicide."

There is only one way to find out if Russian invitations for a high-level meeting are serious, he said in a speech, and that is to respond to them.

Threatens McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police posted a guard about the home of Sen. Joseph McCarthy Tuesday after his next door neighbor reported she had received a telephoned warning that "we are going to blow up Joe McCarthy tonight."

Reporters talked to the neighbor, Mrs. George W. Ennis, after friends of McCarthy told of the phone call.

Mrs. Ennis' home adjoins McCarthy's in a row of houses joined together.

McCarthy said he believed the warning came from "some crackpot."

"I wouldn't imagine this is something serious or they wouldn't have called in advance to advertise their plan," he said.

Mrs. Ennis said the caller was "a man with a foreign sounding voice."

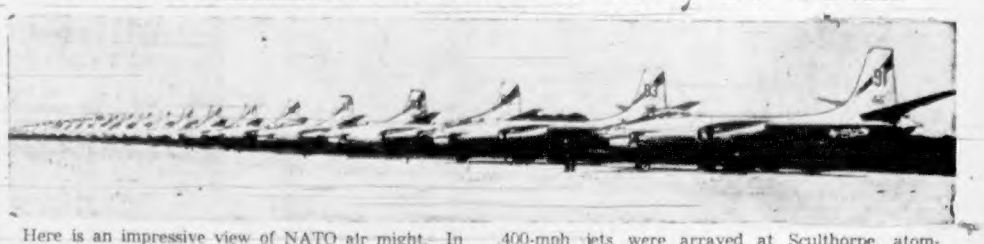
'Vision' Optical Illusion

BATHURST, N.B. (CP)—Residents who flocked to a hill here last week after a child reported seeing what she thought might have been a vision of the Virgin Mary, have concluded it was all an optical illusion.

The young girl claimed to have seen, among trees on Pine Hill, the shimmering likeness of a lady in white, wearing a golden crown.

Later, it was noticed that some of the tree branches, viewed from a certain angle, form a statue-like silhouette. This, combined with smoke and colored lights in the background, could have produced the "vision" effect.

These Britain-Based Planes Can Carry the A-Bomb



Here is an impressive view of NATO air might. In the line-up, as far as the eye can see, are U.S. Tornado jet bombers, capable of dropping the A-bomb. The 400-mph jets were arrayed at Sculthorpe, atom-bomb base at Norfolk, England.—(Central Press Canadian.)
